AMENDMENTS OF HOUSE GO TO COMMITTEE

Non-Party State Election Bill Threshed Over in Conference Committees

BILLS PASS QUICKLY

Several Election Bills go Through House with Clock-Like Precision

REACH AGREEMENT
The joint conference committee on S. B. 233 decided this afternoon to accept the house amendment.

MAY RECEDE
Speaker Johnson named Reps. Jackson, Twichell and Lynch as a conference committee on senate bill No. 233, the non-party state election bill.

Senate bill No. 233, the non-party state election bill, which passed the house of representatives late yesterday, went into conference committees today.

The senate refused to concur in the house amendments when the bill was messaged back at the night session last night. Senators Carey, Steel and Stevens were named on the senate conference committee.

Some of the senate members object to the house amendment regarding the designation or statement of principles which is permitted to be used by a candidate, as provided in the house amendments. The senate bill prohibited the use of the word Republican or Democrat on the non-party state election ballot. The house amendment provided the words could be used jointly with other words in the slogan of five words permitted after the candidate's name, and also that the words might be used co-jointly. The house amendment was inserted to satisfy protests of some members who did not want the party names obliterated; while some of the senate members hold this is necessary under the plan.

Work Smoothly.
With the Independent majority working with clock-like precision the house yesterday afternoon passed several important bills on which the division was almost entirely on strict political lines. In every case the house majority applied the "eleventh hour" motion to prevent any further consideration.

Because the measures had been debated in committee of the whole in the morning there was little debate third reading.

The bills passed included the non-party and presidential primary election measures, a bill to pay for the expenses of the house investigation of the state industries two years ago, a bill increasing the maximum limit of farm loan bonds which may be issued from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 and a bill to pay Bishop, Bismarck, a commission for the audit made two years ago after passage of the intimated board of auditors law. On this measure, Rep. Burkhardt, Nonpartisan, Ward county, joined the independents, saying the money was paid out as a result of the law voted on by the people.

Senate bill No. 233, the non-party state election bill passed as amended by the house, 58 to 55, every member being present as the first measure on final passage in the afternoon.

Radical Bill, He Says.
Rep. Rabe, Stark county, who voted as an independent in the organization of the house and on most party measures, explained his vote against the bill, saying "I was elected as an independent Republican, promising the voters I would oppose any radical bill, and as I believe this is a radical bill, and am re-elected by the people at the election in 1921, I vote 'no'."

The second bill voted on, house bill No. 282, provides for the organization of the state party committees. The vote was 58 to 55. The third bill was the bill re-enacting the presidential primary law and providing for a "United States Ballot" as separate from the state ballot. The vote also was 58 to 55.

Bank Bill Passes.
House bill No. 305, by Rep. Carr, Stutsman, provided for an issue of real estate bonds by the Bank of North Dakota not exceeding $15,000,000 in addition to the present twenty million authorized. The vote was 61 to 52 two Nonpartisans joining with the independents on this bill.

House bill No. 118, appropriating $14,688.41 to pay expenses of the house audit investigation of two years ago, passed 59 to 54. Rep. Rabe voting for the bill. Several Nonpartisans, explaining their vote, complained that the attorney's fees allowed Francis Murphy of Minot and John Sullivan of Mandan—$4,000 each—were excessive.

In committee of the whole, when this was debated, Rep. Starke of Stark county, declared that "Governor Frazier paid Leslie Simpson $100 a day in a case, and he did all his

Tales of Haunted Castle of Duke of York's Fiancee Revived by Approaching Marriage

GLAMIS CASTLE, HAS ITS SPELL BEEN CAST OVER LADY ELIZABETH BOWES-LYON (ABOVE) ENGAGED TO THE DUKE OF YORK (LEFT)?

By Milton Brommer

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
London, Feb. 20.—If Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, who will soon be the bride of the Duke of York and may some day become Queen of England, moves to Buckingham Palace she will carry with her the spell of Glamis Castle, ancient Scottish home of her ancestors.

It will add another chapter to the ever-growing fairy tale which has become legend. Should Lady Elizabeth become dreamy and go off into a reverie or have strange fits of absorption, her friends will blame it on the old castle.

For it's a haunted place peopled by ghosts of dead kings. It has secrets that go back to the fourteenth century. It was there that the Macbeth of Shakespeare killed Banquo and King Duncan.

But the secret that is most often imparted, although it is supposed to be known to only three persons at a time—the holder of the title of Earl of Strathmore, his heir and the factor who takes care of the place—concerns one Duke of Brunsfance.

He was a nightly eard player.

One Sunday night he insisted upon his game. None of his followers would play. So he retired to his card chamber, vowing he would play with someone, even if it were the devil.

Soon came a loud knocking at the door.

It was the duke of Brunsfance.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 20.—Terrorizing the inhabitants of the little town of Easton which lies half way between Mason City and Havana and cutting them off from appeals for help by severing all telephone wires a band of bank robbers looted the Furrier State bank at Easton last night and escaped after firing a fusillade of shots as they departed.

Bolsheviks Delare War Upon "Hootch"

Moscow, Feb. 20.—The Russian government has declared war on bootleggers and "hootch", and the campaign is duplicating the situation in New York and other cities of the United States. Sale of wine and beer in Russia is legal, but the Soviet regime has continued the war policy established early in 1915 by banning vodka and other strong intoxicants. They are now being made in huge quantities illicitly and nearly all of Moscow's newly rich have supplies. Rewards are offered to the Russian policemen for discovering stills. Heavy prison sentences or expulsion from Moscow for violation of the law result.

Cincinnati, Feb. 20.—A messenger for the Carl Market bank was held up by three bandits today and a satchel containing money and checks amounting to $10,000, mostly in checks, was taken from him.

the castle gates—and a stranger wrapped in a red cloak demanded admission. He was conducted to the master's card room. Together they played all night. Shortly afterwards the earl died. Then nightly the servants heard sounds in the card room. The earl's ghost was doomed to play forever with the devil. The door to the room was bolted, barred and closed forever.

But there is another yarn about the secret room which goes back still further in time.

In ancient Scotland rival noble families and their retainers were always at war with each other. One dark night the leader of one of these clans, with all his men, came pounding at Glamis Castle for shelter. They were seeking to escape from their enemies.

The earl admitted them and led them into a deep dungeon chamber where he said they would be safe from harm and from all attempts at search. The giant locks were turned; bolts were fastened; bars put up. The little band of fleeing warriors were penned up forever. The earl had likewise been their enemy.

The room where they met their slow death by hunger and thirst also became their inviolate tomb. It was one of several dungeons always kept locked.

But which one it was—that is the secret of Glamis.

FARMER HANGS HIMSELF IN NEARBY RAVINE

Mandan, Feb. 20.—John A. Anderson, 54 widower, farmer living six miles north of Flasher, yesterday afternoon tied a rope around his neck and around a limb of a tree in a coulee and leaped off the coulee bank. The body, the knees dragging on the ground with the neck broken, was found an hour later. He had been in ill health for several weeks, and according to members of the family, appeared mentally unbalanced. The two sons and one daughter residing with him survive. He lived in Monton county many years.

URGES FREEDOM OF TURKISH WOMEN

Constantinople, Feb. 20.—Mustafa E. Pasha who was recently married to a daughter of a rich Smyrna nobleman has made public announcement for emancipation of Turkish women.

"Speaking before a teachers association at Broussa he declared that the work before the nation could only be perfected if Turkish women joined equally with men in educating themselves and taking part in public affairs.

He described the present seclusion of the female sex to Persian influence and not to the Moslem religion. Pasha's bride is L. Hanoun. She is reported to have brought him a dowry of one million Turkish liras or $440,000 at the present rate of exchange.

SENATE FACES HOT CONTEST ON SUBSIDY

Indications Are That Body Will Remain in Session All Night

LEADERS IN FILIBUSTER

Sen. Ladd Seeks to Sidetrack Measure But Meets Strong Opposition

Washington, Feb. 20.—Possibility of an all night session faced the senate when it convened an hour ahead of its usual time. It was scheduled to resume the fight over the administration shipping bill with opponents, indicating no intention of abandoning their filibuster against the measure.

It appeared that the bill might be brought to a definite test of strength during the session as a result of the announced purpose of Senator Jones, Washington, in charge of the measure to hold the senate in session all night if opponents continued in their apparent efforts to prevent the measure from coming to a vote.

Senator Jones announced he would endeavor to do this after the tactics of opponents had taken the definite shape of a filibuster with the delivery of three and a half hour speech by Senator Shepard, Democrat, Texas, on the operation of the League of Nations at last night's session.

The night session was forced by the bill's proponents by defeating, 45 to 43, a motion for adjournment at the usual hour.

Ladd's Motion Before House
There still was pending today a motion made earlier yesterday by Senator Ladd, Republican, North Dakota, to lay aside the shipping bill and take up the filled milk bill. A motion to lay aside the last proposal on the table defeated, 44 to 42, and although leaders among the shipping bill proponents conceded the vote was a surprise they pointed out that several Republicans considered as

GIVE CITIES BACK PART OF LICENSE FUND

House Passes Measure Which Would Redistribute 70 Per Cent of Income

HIT BOWERY DANCES

A compromise and amended bill involving the state pool hall license fund was approved in committee today in a house late last night and was on the calendar for final passage today.

House bill No. 206, as amended, provides that the state department shall be maintained in the Attorney-General's office but provides that 70 percent of the license money collected from pool halls, soft drink stands, dance halls, taxicab stands and theaters shall be returned to the cities and villages instead of the original bill which provided 50 percent of the amount would be returned to the cities and made no mention of villages.

The bill also was amended to cut the salary of the inspector to $2,400 a year, provides for three investigators at $2,000 a year and a clerk at $1,600 a year, striking out the provision in the bill as originally drawn providing for four more investigators.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Halcrow, and was in opposition to the house bill providing for repeal of the pool hall license statute.

An amendment was inserted by Rep. Twichell after a battle which provides that the sheriff must designate an officer to be present at a barn or bowery dance in the country which is given for profit, and the proprietor must pay the cost of policing.

Rep. Halcrow had offered an amendment providing specifically it was the duty of the investigators to visit these places, and opposed the Twichell amendment, saying it was not workable.

With respect to country neighborhood dances Rep. Twichell deputized the sheriff could merely deputize someone in the community without any cost whatever, but that an officer would be provided for the barn dances given to the public for profit.

Rep. Vogel offered an amendment making the amount to be returned to cities and villages 80 percent of the pool hall fund instead of 70 percent. It was lost.

The house approved the committee report recommending passage of H. B. 297, to repeal the law providing for consideration of the state capital and penitentiary lighting plants.

OBSEQUIES OF BLIZZARD VICTIM HELD AT FRIED

Jamestown, Feb. 20.—The funeral of Mrs. Jules Hagenson, victim of Tuesday's blizzard, was held at Fried today Her grave is beside that of her brother, Peter Lorenz, who was killed in France during the world war. Mr. Hagenson is still at the home he reached the night of the blizzard and is recovering nicely. It will not be necessary to amputate his foot.

MINISTERS OF GERMANY IN RUHR ZONE

Keep in Close Touch With Conditions Despite Orders of French Government

AMERICA NOT INVOLVED
Not Being Party to Versailles Treaty Has no Concern, Declares Premier Law

London, Feb. 20.—Dispatches from the Ruhr assert that the German cabinet ministers continue to visit the occupied region in defiance of recent orders prohibiting their presence. It is asserted that minister of the interior and Herr Gruener, minister of transportation, were recent visitors.

AIM AT NEGOTIATIONS

Berlin, Feb. 20.—Former Chancellor Wirth has told a committee of center party members at Ulm that resistance in the Ruhr is aimed to bring about negotiations. The Vossische Zeitung says.

The government must be watchful so not to miss the moment when negotiations were possible.

NOT A PARTY.

London, Feb. 20.—Prime Minister Bonar Law stated in the House of Commons today that it would not be necessary for Great Britain to initiate a discussion with the American government as to whether the French action in the Ruhr was in accordance with the treaty of Versailles, since the United States was not a party to the treaty.

WORKMEN ON STRIKE.

Duesseldorf, Feb. 20.—The workmen of the Duren Grubenovich section of the railway taken over from the British occupation authorities, by the French have gone on strike rather than continue their services under the supervision of the French military.

MAN INJURED WHEN TRAIN HITS WAGON

Jamestown, N. D., Feb. 20.—No. 1 Northern Pacific passenger train struck a wagon near Spiritwood today, killing two horses and injuring the driver, Richard Gainsforth. He is not believed seriously hurt.

MARRIED WOMAN BAN SURVIVES

A bill introduced by Senator Martin of Morton county, prohibiting the employment of married women in state offices, was sent to third reading in the senate, in the face of a report for indefinite postponement by the committee in charge.

The bill was expected to be up for final passage today.

BILL TO LICENSE SALE OF CIGARETTES DIES IN SENATE

The bill introduced by Senator McCoy of Richland county to legalize the sale of cigarettes under a stamp tax basis was killed.

The measure was reported in by the committee on taxes and tax laws without recommendation. There was a spirited debate on the bill, in which Senators Whitman of Grand Forks and Hamilton of McHenry urged its passage, which was opposed by Senators Baker and Micklethun.

Senator Hamilton attacked the lobby, which he said had been carried on against the bill. "I remember during the war," he said, "a woman came to me and urged me to subscribe to a fund for buying cigarettes for the soldiers in France. About two years later she was after me to oppose a bill for the sale of cigarettes. 'Consistency thou art a jewel.'"

On the final vote there were 33 votes for the indefinite postponement of the measure to 13 for its passage.

NEWSPAPER LEGISLATION IS DOUBTFUL

Senate and House Differ on Bills Fixing Legal Publication Rates

BILLS HIT PAPERS

House Bill No. 311 Declared Blow at Weekly Newspapers of State

Whether or not any printing legislation changing the present rates will be passed this session of the legislature probably depends on whether probably conference committee members of the house and the senate can get together it was indicated today.

Half a dozen measures affecting legal publication rates have been introduced in either house. The exclusive committee of the North Dakota Press association, working in conjunction with a group representing the People's Press association (League), sponsored several bills affecting the newspapers. Only one of these has passed, that requiring a new paper candidate for official paper to have been in operation for at least a year and requiring newspapers to go on the primary election ballot for the purpose of eliminating three or four-cornered fights at general elections.

S. B. 51 as originally introduced had the purpose of reducing the required number of publications for delinquent tax lists from three to one. This passed the senate and is now in the house. However, the house passed a bill sponsored by L. L. Twichell and Trubshaw of Barnes, which permits two publications of the tax list. This measure H. B. 193 requires that auditors follow a certain form in preparing copy for the printers for publication of the tax lists. It sets forth certain abbreviations to be used, limits the publication to single column width and is in line with the suggestions of the newspaper men, except to reduction of number of publications. This bill has passed the house and is in the senate.

Kill Senate Bill.
The house has killed Senate Bill 51, the senate printing committee measure on legal rates and in its place introduced H. B. 311 through the delayed bills committee fixing a lower schedule of rates. S. B. 51 and H. B. 311 instead of being referred to the house printing committee were placed in the hands of the state affairs committee of which L. L. Twichell is chairman.

While the senate measure killed by the house would leave the rates as at present with restrictions on the subsequent publications, H. B. 311 calls for nine cents a line (6 pt.) for first insertion, six for the second and five cents a line for each subsequent publication of a legal notice. It provides for a flat five cents per line additional fee for cost of setting tabulated matter whether it be with one justification (column of figures) or four or more.

House bill No. 311 passed the house last night. There is a group of members in the senate who are not inclined to accept the Twichell-Trubshaw measure on delinquent tax list publications. Each house has passed its own idea of the delinquent tax list law.

The whole trend of the session, however, seems to be to take a whack at the newspapers, according to the press men who have been explaining to members the features of the bill.

JNO. NORSTRUM DROPS DEAD AT FINNEY'S

John Norstrum, age 67 years, dropped dead at Finney's Drug store this afternoon at 3:50 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Norstrum reside at 22 Ave. D. It was thought that heart trouble caused his death. Mrs. Norstrum is the father of Mrs. Carl Ellason.

BOND ISSUE IS CARRIED

WINS EASILY
With a vote of six to one the bond issue for the school house in the west section of the city has carried. At 4:30 the vote was almost canvassed, and stood 569 for the bond issue to 93 against.

A total of 675 votes were cast at the school election today at the Will School to determine whether a new building is to be erected in the west portion of Bismarck.

The election called for the authorization of $85,000 bond issue. At certain hours the vote was brisk, but the total vote is a small percentage of the vote of the city and showed a comparative lack of interest on the part of the electorate.

West end residents where the matter of a school is a very live issue were at work getting out the vote in that section of the city.

BOTH HOUSES FOR WINDING UP BUILDERS

Senate Passes Bill For Liquidations, and House Indicates Attitude

PROBE IS ASKED
Senator Baird introduced a resolution in the senate today calling upon the Workmen's Compensation Bureau to make a flat cut of 50 percent in compensation insurance rates. The resolution recited the bureau had more than a million dollars of funds, and called upon them to reduce their surplus. Commissioners of the Bureau assert the surplus is required by law. The house approved in committee of the whole H. B. 222, putting motor transportation companies operating between cities regularly, under the control of the railroad commission.

The state senate, taking up some of its most important bills at last night's session, voted to liquidate the Home Building Association, passed bills to strengthen the hands of the Guaranty Fund Commission and passed a bill for a constitutional amendment permitting the issuance of bonds for the building of dormitories at state institutions.

The vote for liquidation of the Home Building Association was 27 to 21, a straight party vote. The senate previously had repealed the bill authorizing the bond issue for this association. The house voted in favor of a bill creating a deficit tax for this association. With action taken in both houses indicating the attitude of the majority, it appears certain that this state enterprise will be entirely abolished.

Baker, Nonpartisan.
Senator Baker introduced a proposed amendment to the liquidation bill providing that in case of arbitration over the cost of a house already built, the two men named by the Industrial Commission and the home owner select the third instead of the supreme court commissioner serving. The amendment was lost.

Bill Passed.
The bill creating a board of managers for the mill and elevator drew a majority of the votes 28 to 22, but Lt. Gov. Hyland reserved his announcement as to passage or failure of the bill until he determined whether the measure required a two-thirds majority for passage inasmuch as it was voted on at a referendum election. Several independent senators joined the solid league ranks in defeating the bill by Ruch S. B. removing all school employees from insurance under the workmen's compensation bureau. The

WILL DISMISS RECEIVERSHIP PROCEEDINGS

Paul Moore of West Branch, Ia., Succeeds Louis Noltemeier of Valley City

ANDERSON A DIRECTOR

New Deal in Plan to Put Grain Exchange on Different Basis

St. Paul, Feb. 20.—The organization of the Equity Cooperative Exchange was being effected today under agreement reached yesterday for dismissal of receivership proceedings against the exchange.

The agreement involved a change in virtually the entire executive personnel of the organization with Paul Moore of West Branch, Ia., as president succeeding Louis Noltemeier of Valley City and Watts as general manager in place of C. B. Swanson.

The receivership action instituted a month ago by stockholders and members of the exchange who alleged mismanagement and fraud and resulted in court hearing last week was dismissed by Judge Behoeffer in district court following the agreement.

Through an official statement issued by the new management it was denied that condemnation of any former officer was involved in the settlement. Friends of J. M. Anderson, former president of the Equity, said today the retirement of the old regime was a result of his stand against the old management.

Mr. Anderson's charges were preferred Oct. 2 at a meeting of the board of directors precipitating the fight which culminated in the court action brought here. Mr. Anderson will continue as director.

The new executive committee named yesterday included: O. Watt, chairman, Moor, W. H. Olson, New Rockford and Mr. Noltemeier. It was announced by the new officer that the Equity is solvent and would make funds available for payment of approximately $40,000 additional to members of the 1922 grain pool.

DENIES ANY CONNECTION WITH KLAN

Ed Nesemier Takes Stand Casselton Assault Case—Ku Klux Plot Charged

Fargo, Feb. 20.—Ed. Nesemier, co-defendant with his brother George Erdmeier in an assault and battery case instituted by Walter Corcoran of Casselton today on a witness stand denied that he any members of the defendant family are members of the Klux Klan as testified to yesterday by Corcoran in the case.

On cross-examination, however, he said his brother had said so much about "their secretary" the Klan to frighten Corcoran at the time the alleged assault is said to have taken place near the R. Johnson farm early last month. Nesemier said that Corcoran had been accosted on the night referred to because they deemed it proper that the Corcoran should remain at the Johnson home away from the Johnsons were away. The girls living on the Johnson farm were friends of Corcoran and frequently visited them. It was while driving with one of the girls that the alleged assault is said have taken place.

The state rested in the case this morning after examining several witnesses who testified to seeing Corcoran in the city restaurant Casselton after the assault. A said he had been injured. Ed Nesemier said that he did not strike Corcoran and that he did not see anyone strike or kick him. The case is expected to be completed late today.

URGES FREEDOM OF TURKISH WOMEN

Constantinople, Feb. 20.—Mustafa E. Pasha who was recently married to a daughter of a rich Smyrna nobleman has made public announcement for emancipation of Turkish women. Speaking before a teachers association at Bursa he declared that the work before the nation could only be perfected if Turkish women joined equally with men in educating themselves and taking part in public affairs. He described the present seclusion of the female sex to Persian influence and to the Moslem religion. Pasha's bride is L. Hanoun. She is reported to have brought him a dowry of one million Turkish liras or $400,000 at the present rate of exchange.

Sen. Ladd Seeks to Sidetrack Measure But Meets Strong Opposition

Washington, Feb. 20.—Possibility of an all night session faced the senate when it convened an hour ahead of its usual time. It was scheduled to resume the fight over the administration shipping bill with opponents indicating no intention of abandoning their filibuster against the measure.

It appeared that the bill might be brought to a definite test of strength during the session as a result of the announced purpose of Senator Jones, Washington, in charge of the measure to hold the senate in session all night if opponents continued in their apparent efforts to prevent the measure from coming to a vote.

Senator Jones announced he would endeavor to do this after the tactics of opponents had taken the definite shape of a filibuster with the delivery of three and a half hour speech by Senator Shepard, Democrat, Texas, on the operation of the League of Nations at last night's session.

The night session was forced by the bill's proponents by defeating, 45 to 43, a motion for adjournment at the usual hour.

Ladd's Motion Before House

There still was pending today a motion made earlier yesterday by Senator Ladd, Republican, North Dakota, to lay aside the shipping bill and take up the filled milk bill. A motion to lay aside the last proposal on the table defeated, 44 to 42, and although leaders among the shipping bill proponents conceded the vote, they pointed out that several Republicans considered it as (Continued on Page Three)

GIVE CITIES BACK PART OF LICENSE FUND

House Passes Measure Which Would Redistribute 70 Per Cent of Income

HIT BOWERY DANCES

A compromise and amended bill involving the state pool hall license fund was approved in committee of the whole house late last night and was on the calendar for final passage today.

House bill No. 306, as amended, provides that the state department shall be maintained in the Attorney-General's office but provides that 70 percent of the license money collected from pool halls, soft drink stands, dance halls, taxicab stands and theaters shall be returned to the cities and villages instead of the original bill which provided 50 percent of the amount would be returned to the cities and made no mention of villages.

Bill also was amended to cut the salary of the inspector to $2,400 a year, provides for three investigators at $2,000 a year, and a clerk at $1,600 a year, striking out the provision in the bill as originally drafted providing for four more investigators.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Halcrow, and was in opposition to the house bill providing for repeal of the pool hall license statute.

An amendment was inserted by Rep. Twichell after a battle which provided that the sheriff must designate an officer to be present at a barn or bowery dance in the country which is given for profit, and the proprietor must pay the cost of policing.

Rep. Halcrow had offered an amendment providing specifically it was the duty of the investigators to visit these places, and opposed the Twichell amendment, saying it was not workable.

With respect to country neighborhood dances Rep. Twichell maintained the sheriff could merely deputize someone in the community without any cost whatever, but that an officer would be provided for the barn dances given to the public for profit.

Rep. Vogel offered an amendment Rep. Halcrow had also proposed making the amount to be returned to cities and villages 60 percent of the pool hall fund instead of 70 percent. It was lost.

The house approved the committee report recommending passage of H. B. 297, to repeal the law providing for consideration of the state capital and penitentiary lighting plants.

OBSEQUIES OF BLIZZARD VICTIM HELD AT FRIED

Jamestown, Feb. 20.—The funeral of Mrs. Jules Hagenson, victim of Tuesday's blizzard, was held at Fried today. Her grave is beside that of her brother, Peter Lorenz, who was killed in France during the world war. Mr. Hagenson is still at the home he reached the night of the blizzard and is recovering nicely. It will not be necessary to amputate his foot.

AMERICA NOT INVOLVED

Not Being Party to Versailles Treaty Has no Concern, Declares Premier Law

London, Feb. 20.—Dispatches from the Ruhr assert that the German cabinet ministers continue to visit the occupied region in defiance of recent orders prohibiting their presence. It is asserted that ministers of the interior and Herr Groener, minister of transportation, were recent visitors.

AIM AT NEGOTIATIONS

Berlin, Feb. 20.—Former Chancellor Wirth has told a committee of Center party members at Ulm that resistance in the Ruhr is aimed to bring about negotiations. The Vossische Zeitung says:

The government must be watchful so not to miss the moment when negotiations were possible.

NOT A PARTY

London, Feb. 20.—Prime Minister Bonar Law stated in the House of Commons today that it would not be necessary for Great Britain to initiate a discussion with the American government as to whether the French action in the Ruhr was in accordance with the treaty of Versailles, since the United States was not a party to the treaty.

Jamestown, N. D., Feb. 20.—No. 1 Northern Pacific passenger train struck a wagon near Spiritwood today, killing two horses and injuring the driver, Richard Gainsforth. He is not believed seriously hurt.

MARRIED WOMAN BAN SURVIVES

A bill introduced by Senator Martin of Morton county, forbidding the employment of married women in state offices, was sent to third reading in the senate, in the face of a report for indefinite postponement by the committee in charge.

The bill was expected to be up for final passage today.

BILL TO LICENSE SALE OF CIGARETTES DIES IN SENATE

The bill introduced by Senator McCoy of Richland county to legalize the sale of cigarettes under a stamp tax basis was killed.

The measure was reported in by the committee on taxes and tax laws without recommendation. It was a spirited debate on the bill, in which Senators Whitman of Grand Forks and Hamilton of McHenry urged its passage, which was opposed by Senators Baker and Micklethun.

Senator Hamilton attacked the lobby, which he said had been carried on against the bill. "I remember during the war," he said, "a woman came to me and urged me to subscribe to a fund for buying cigarettes for the soldiers in France. About two years later she was after me to oppose a bill for the sale of cigarettes. 'Consistency thou art a jewel.'"

On the final vote there were 33 votes for the indefinite postponement of the measure to 13 for its passage.

This probably ends attempts at this session to repeal the anti-cigarette law, since a bill for an out and out repeal was lost in the house.

The McCoy senate bill proposed a stamp tax which would have raised many thousands of dollars annually, it was estimated.

NEWSPAPER LEGISLATION IS DOUBTFUL

Senate and House Differ on Bills Fixing Legal Publication Rates

BILLS HIT PAPERS

House Bill No. 311 Declared Blow at Weekly Newspapers of State

Whether or not any printing legislation changing the present rates will be passed this session of the legislature probably depends on whether probable conference committee members of the house and the senate can get together it was indicated today.

Half a dozen measures affecting legal publication rates have been introduced in either house. The executive committee of the North Dakota Press association, working in conjunction with men representing the People's Press association (League), sponsored several bills affecting the newspapers. Only one of these has passed, that requiring a newspaper candidate for official paper to have been in operation for at least a year and requiring newspapers to go on the primary election ballot for the purpose of eliminating three or four-cornered fights at general elections.

S. B. 51 as originally introduced in the upper house called for certain reductions on some classes of publications. However the bill was rewritten by the senate printing committee, Ole Ettestad, chairman (N.), so as to fix a rate of 9 cents per line on all straight matter and six cents per line on subsequent matter. The only important change from the present law was that it provided a single price for tabulated matter after the first publication.

In connection with this Senator Ettestad introduced a bill reducing the required number of publications for delinquent tax lists from three to one. This passed the senate and is now in the house. However, the house passed a bill sponsored by L. L. Twichell and Trubshaw of Barnes, which permits two publications of the tax list. This measure H. B. 193 requires that auditors follow a certain form in preparing copy for the printers for publication of the tax lists. It sets forth certain abbreviations to be used, limits the publication to single column width and is in line with the suggestions of the newspaper men, except to reduction of number of publications. This bill has passed the house and is in the senate.

KHl Senate Bill

The house has killed Senate Bill 51, the senate printing committee measure on legal rates and in its place introduced H. B. 311 through the delayed bills committee fixing a lower schedule of rates. S. B. 51 and H. B. 311 instead of being referred to the house printing committee were placed in the hands of the state affairs committee of which L. L. Twichell is chairman.

While the senate measure killed by the house would leave the rates as at present with reductions on the subsequent publications, H. B. 311 calls for nine cents a line (6 pt.) for first insertion, six for the second and five cents a line for each subsequent publication of a legal notice. It provides for a flat five cents per line additional fee for cost of setting tabulated matter whether it be with one justification (column of figures) or four or more.

House bill No. 311 passed the house last night. There is a group of members in the senate who are not inclined to accept the Twichell-Trubshaw measure on delinquent tax list publications. Each house has passed its own idea of the delinquent tax list law.

The whole trend of the session, however, seems to be to take a whack at the newspapers, according to the press men who have been explaining to members the features of the bill.

BOND ISSUE IS CARRIED

WINS EASILY
With a vote of six to one the bond issue for the school house in the west section of the city has carried. At 4:30 the vote was almost canvassed, and stood 569 for the bond issue to 93 against.

A total of 675 votes were cast at the school election today at the Will School to determine whether a new building is to be erected in the west portion of Bismarck.

The election called for the authorization of $85,000 bond issue. At certain hours the vote was brisk, but the total vote is a small percentage of the vote of the city and showed a comparative lack of interest on the part of the electorate.

West end residents where the matter of a school is a very live issue were at work getting out the vote in that section of the city.

BOTH HOUSES FOR WINDING UP BUILDERS

Senate Passes Bill For Liquidations, and House Indicates Attitude

PROBE IS ASKED

Senator Baird introduced a resolution in the senate today calling upon the Workmen's Compensation Bureau to make a flat cut of 50 percent in compensation insurance rates. The resolution recited the bureau had more than a million dollars of funds, and called upon them to reduce their surplus. Commissioners of the bureau are required by law to report the surplus to the legislature.

The house approved in committee of the whole H. B. 222, putting motor transportation companies operating between cities regularly, under the control of the railroad commission.

The state senate, taking up some of its most important bills at last night's session, voted to liquidate the Home Building Association, passed bills to strengthen the commission and passed a bill for a constitutional amendment permitting the issuance of bonds for the building of dormitories at state institutions.

The vote for liquidation of the Home Building Association was 27 to 21, a straight party vote. The senate previously had repealed the bill authorizing the bond issue for this association. The house voted in favor of a bill creating a deficit tax for this association. With action taken in both houses indicating the attitude of the majority, it appears certain that this state enterprise will be entirely abolished.

Senator Baker, Nonpartisan, proposed an amendment to the liquidation bill providing that in case of arbitration over the cost of a house already built, the two men named by the Industrial Commission and the home owner select the third instead of the supreme court commissioner serving. The amendment was lost.

The bill creating a board of managers for the mill and elevator drew a majority of the votes 26 to 22, but Lt. Gov. Hyland reserved his announcement as to passage or failure of the bill until he determined whether the measure required a two thirds majority for passage inasmuch as it was voted on at a referendum election.

Several independent senators joined the solid league ranks in defeating the bill by Russell S. B. removing all school employees from insurance under the workmen's compensation bureau. The (Continued on page 3.)

WILL DISMISS RECEIVERSHIP PROCEEDINGS

Paul Moore of West Branch, Ia., Succeeds Louis Noltemeier of Valley City

ANDERSON A DIRECTOR

New Deal in Plan to Put Grain Exchange on Different Basis

St. Paul, Feb. 20.—The organization of the Equity Cooperative Exchange was being effected today under agreement reached yesterday for dismissal of receivership proceedings against the Exchange.

The agreement involved a change in virtually the entire executive personnel of the organization with Paul Moore of West Branch, Ia., as president succeeding Louis Noltemeier of Valley City and Watts as general manager in place of C. B. Swanson.

The receivership action instituted a month ago by stockholders and members of the exchange who alleged mismanagement and fraud and resulted in court hearing last week was dismissed by Judge Behoeffer in district court following the agreement.

Through an official statement issued by the new management it was denied that condemnation of any former officer was involved in the settlement. Friends of J. M. Anderson, former president of the Equity, said today the retirement of the old regime was a result of his stand against the old management.

Mr. Anderson's charges were preferred Oct. 2 at a meeting of the board of directors precipitating the fight which culminated in the court action brought here. Mr. Anderson will continue as director.

The new executive committee named yesterday included: Mr. Watt, chairman, Moor, O. H. Olson, New Rockford, and Mr. Noltemeier. It was announced by the new officers that the Equity is solvent and would make funds available for payment of approximately $40,000 additional to members of the 1922 grain pool.

DENIES ANY CONNECTION WITH KLAN

Ed Nesemier Takes Stand in Casselton Assault Case—Ku Klux Plot Charged

Fargo, Feb. 20.—Ed Nesemier, co-defendant with his brother George Nesemier, and Joe and George Erdmer in an assault and battery case instituted by Walter Corcoran of Casselton today on the witness stand denied that he or any members of the defendant family are members of the Ku Klux Klan as testified to yesterday by Corcoran in the case.

On cross-examination, however, he said, his brother had said something about "being secretary of the Klan to frighten Corcoran" at the time the alleged assault is said to have taken place near the Ross-Johnson home last month. Nesemier said that Corcoran had been accused of the night referred to because they deemed it improper that Corcoran should remain at the Johnson home nights when the Johnsons were away. Two girls living on the Johnson farm were friends of Corcoran and he frequently visited them. It was while driving with one of the girls that the alleged assault is said to have taken place.

The state rested in the case this morning after examining seven witnesses who testified to seeing Corcoran in the city restaurant at Casselton after the assault. All said he had been injured.

Ed Nesemier said that he did not strike Corcoran and that he did not see anyone strike or kick him. The case is expected to be completed late today.

ASK PROBE OF RULING MADE BY S. JOHNSON

Senator Mikethus Introduces Resolution in the State Senate

INVOLVED DRAKE MILL

The Nonpartisan League is still looking for a chance to get Justice Sveinbjorn Johnson's scalp.

This cropped out in the senate when Senator Mikethus Nonpartisan, Griggs county, introduced concurrent resolution.

The resolution sets forth a number of interesting facts among others that the report of the industrial commission which shows that during the two and one-half years of its operation the Drake Mill lost $ 0.253 "is generally supposed to be incorrect and misleading."

There are other charges about the industrial commission report in general, and the resolution then gets down to the real meat of the situation, by declaring that it is generally charged that Sveinbjorn Johnson prior to his election as attorney-general when acting as referee in bankruptcy held in a Grand Forks case that the state had no prior lien on consigned flour and that it is generally held by attorneys that such ruling was erroneous and was intended to injure and cripple the Drake Mill for political purposes.

Justice Johnson is also charged with continuing with similar nefarious practices after becoming attorney-general.

The resolution asks the lieutenant governor and the speaker of the house of representatives each appoint one Nonpartisan and one Independent on a committee which shall probe the whole affair, the committee members named by the two houses to select a fifth member of the committee, and to make a full report to the legislative assembly.

Although Senator Mikethus wanted the resolution referred to the state affairs committee of the senate for snap action he was repudiated that under a rule adopted Friday at all bills and resolutions now introduced must go to a committee on delayed bills before further action is taken. So the resolution was so referred.

When the resolution was shown to Justice Johnson he said: "The whole thing is rather a clumsy attempt at political propaganda," he said.

"The ruling referred to was handed down by me on March 12, 1921 or nearly two years ago in a case connected with the bankruptcy proceedings of the People's Supply Co. of Grand Forks which had some Drake Mill flour on consignment."

"My holding was that the Drake Mill was not the state of North Dakota and therefore held no prior lien. The same day that I made the ruling, a similar ruling was made by Judge McKenna in connection with the garnishment of funds of the Bank of North Dakota. The legal point involved was practically identical."

"The Sargent county case, was as I remember it, appealed to the supreme court, and the ruling was upheld there."

"Make Heirs Show They Deserve the Money," Says One, Taking Job

MRS. VINCENT J. LAMB, ABOVE, AND HER HUSBAND, INSET.

By NEA Service.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Because he believes no man has a right to his fortune before he has earned it, and—

Because his pretty, demure bride inspired him to this realization after two years of high living—

Vincent J. Lamb, 20-year-old heir to a $5,000,000 fortune, is working as an $18-a-week apprentice stock board maker here. Until he has made $10,000 by sheer earning power, Lamb says, he will receive no benefit from his millions.

"My wife has brought me to the realization that only service counts," says Lamb. "No one should be given control of vast fortunes until the individual has proven his mettle."

"Deputies of Power" "Money means power. It should be used for good. But by that I don't necessarily mean unintelligent philanthropy. Owners of large fortunes, to my mind are merely the deputies of power held temporarily in their custody. By human service they can turn that power into usefulness."

"That's what I'm trying to learn now—how to give service and take my place as one of the cogs in the machine."

"William Lemke was the attorney-general of the state at the time I made my ruling. If he thought I had erred he had full opportunity to appeal to the federal court. He never did so although he remained in office for some eight months after I made my ruling."

"These facts show the utter absurdity of the charges."

Two years ago Lamb inherited $5,000,000 from an uncle, Patrick O'Connor, one time president of the Omaha Board of Trade. He lived high for two years until he met Miss Grace Ivers, daughter of a Denver banker.

Last October they were married. With it came Lamb's inspiration to earn. Mrs. Lamb was with him. She is helping him even now by earning her own living in a Los Angeles movie studio.

"I have given up all my cars and am living in a furnished room," says Lamb. "It costs me $4 a week. My food costs nearly $12. And the rest I save. It isn't much. But at least I'm earning it."

Fortune Tied Up "That's all I'll have to live on, too, for I've induced my lawyers back home to tie up every cent of my inheritance so's that I can't lay my fingers on a single penny until after I've pulled down the $10,000 on which I've set my mark."

"Of course no one can keep a wife on $18 a week. So Grace will probably have to stay out on the coast until after I've started to earn more."

"But she's wonderful. I tell you, I'm doing this for her. I'm going to prove to her that I'm worthy of her love. I'm going to be a man."

TRIAL NEARS END

Kansas City, Feb. 19.—Prosecution in the case of W. E. Stewart, charged with using the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of Hidalgo county, Texas, land, expected today to complete its case. The trial was halted last Thursday because of the temporary illness of one juror.

H. MARCOTTE PASSED AWAY IN FLORIDA

Will be Laid to Rest in Arlington Cemetery—Once Stationed at Fort Lincoln

Captain Henry Marcotte died at St. Augustine, Fla. Sunday, Jan. 21 after an illness of three weeks. He was 83 years of age, being born in Rome, Italy in 1840 and coming to the United States when he was six years old. More than 35 years of his life were spent in St. Augustine.

Captain Marcotte was one of the pioneers in this vicinity, helping build the old fort and the block house in 1871, served in an important military position at the Fort and went with the Whistler expedition to the Black Hills in '71.

A record of his life according to the St. Augustine Record of Jan. 22 reads as follows:

Captain Marcotte served his country during the War for the Union as a volunteer, and entered the regular army in 1860. During his term of military duty he was wounded seriously in three engagements. His service in the regular army during the seventies included escort duty in the preliminary survey of the Northern Pacific Railroad in the Bad Lands and the Yellowstone River country, among hostile Indians; also duty at Fort Abraham Lincoln. He was retired in 1878.

He went to Cuba with the army as correspondent of the Army and Navy Journal during the Spanish-American War. By permission of General Shafter, commanding, he attached himself to the Gatling

Battery, and was under fire with it on the 25th of June, 1898, encouraging the men who were in battle for the first time, nursing the sick and helping to secure proper food for them.

Captain Marcotte was actively engaged in newspaper correspondence work in this city during his entire term of residence here. He was appointed representative for the Associated Press, the request of the late Henry M. Flagler, and also represented the New York World, Brooklyn Eagle, and many western dailies. Recently he prepared the records of army duty in the early days of North Dakota for the State, and the Historical Society of Bismarck, a work not quite completed at the time of his death.

Captain Marcotte is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and helped build up the organization in the early days of his residence here. He was State Commander years ago. Recently he was made an honorary member of the Spanish-American War Veterans, and was presented with a handsome badge by the local camp.

WEALTH DOESN'T WORRY HIM

Ned McLean, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. McLean of Washington, who is popularly known as "the million-dollar-kid" because of the vast wealth he will inherit, is shown here, with his physical instructor, Jerry Murphy, at Palm Beach.

He was also a member of the Loyal Legion, attached to the New York Commandery.

Generous, kindly, and desiring above all earthly things the good of the country of his adoption, and of his home town, Captain Marcotte has now entered into rest, and will be laid in Arlington, with his comrades of sixty years ago.

As soon as word is received from authorities at Washington, D. C., regarding the interment in the National Cemetery at Arlington, an announcement may be made with regard to simple services to be conducted here by the Rev. L. Fitz-James Hindry, rector of Trinity church, if arrangements can be made for these, prior to the departure for Washington. The request has been made that no flowers be sent. Relatives and friends in Washington will look after all arrangements there.

The United States flag on the Marcotte home is at half-mast today, and numberless passers-by, whether of not personal friends of the late Captain Marcotte and his widow, are paying their wordless tribute to a gallant soldier.

MAIL TRAIN JUMPSTRAK NONE HURT

Milwaukee, Feb. 19.—The south bound Minneapolis-Chicago mail train No. 58, with 14 coaches on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad left the track late last night near Pewaukee, 80 miles west of Milwaukee, but no one was injured. The accident was caused by a broken rail. Only a few passengers were on board the train.

CHILD LABOR ADVOCATES WIN FIRST FIGHT

Washington, Feb. 19.—Advocates of a child labor constitutional amendment won their first fight today when the senate judiciary committee voted in favor of the resolution providing for submission of such an amendment to the states.

Opponents of the resolution, however, declared they would prevent adoption of the resolution in the senate.

There was a record vote in the senate committee on the resolution, which was a composite draft embracing a score of child labor resolutions, which the committee had been fighting over for weeks.

HOW SERIOUSLY DO YOU TAKE A GAME OF GOLF?

After years of relentless warfare they met once more, paired to play golf—Michael, an internationally famous crook; Sir Norman, who doggedly pursued him; Janet, former wife of one, now the wife of the other.

They were as equally matched in golfing as they were in skill and daring during the days of pursuit. They agreed to let Fate—and Golf—settle their problem. If Michael won, he went free. If he lost—Scotland Yard would be notified.

The story of the battle for liberty is a golfing classic, aside from the dramatic intensity of the situation. Let Janet tell about what happened at the 18th, with the scores even up.

At the 18th, a strong wind was against them. Norman, pulling a little, escaped the bunkers, but Michael, hitting a far better ball, carried them with a few yards to spare. Norman played a fine second and reached the green four or five yards from the hole. When Michael reached his ball, I saw him stop and look at it. His servant gave an exclamation. It was lying where a huge clot of dirt had been knocked away by some beginner and never replaced, without a blade of grass around it and on a downward slope. I looked across toward Sir Norman.

"It isn't fair," I whispered hoarsely. "Move it with your foot. Norman can't see. Besides, I'm in the way."

Michael, who was choosing a club, just glanced up at me for a moment, and I felt as though I had said something sacrilegious.

"We don't play games that way," he rejoined quietly. "I'm afraid this is going to be a rather forlorn hope, though."

The tangled threads of crime, love, criminal cunning, golf, daring pursuit and a high sense of sportsmanship are woven into the greatest series of detective stories since Sherlock Holmes at his zenith, by that acknowledgement master creator of mystery stories.

National Wheat Growing Week

February 19 to 24

Proclamation issued by Governor Nestos.

PROFITS ON WHEAT—who gets them?

Somebody is making money on wheat, otherwise grain dealers would go out of business. It isn't the farmer, so it must be the grain dealer. That's fair enough, but why can't the farmer also be a grain dealer? Alone he is helpless but joining with thousands of his neighbors he can HIRE experts to sell his wheat and get all the profits there are in it! Very simple! That is what members of the North Dakota Wheat Growers association have done!

PROFITS GROWERS GET

According to government figures the average margin of profit of country elevators in North and South Dakota for 1920-21 (deflation year at that) was 13.21 cents per bushel for wheat. Members of the association put their wheat through the elevator at about 3 cents per bushel. That's a net profit of over 10 cents that will almost pay your thresh bill!

Association members, through their sales agency at the terminal, sell direct to millers and get all the premiums! This year the average premium on Dark Northern No. 1 received this year is 14 cents per bushel; on all grades of Amber Durum, 11½ cents per bushel. Farmers' elevators cannot get those premiums for their members because when a car load is shipped to the terminal it must be sold on the day it arrives or go into demurrage. The buyer holds the whip hand and buys at bargain prices. The grain dealer, in turn, sells to the miller and gets the premiums offered.

The Wheat Growers associations have ample STORAGE space in connection with the sales agencies at the terminals. The wheat as it arrives is tested for gluten in association laboratories to find the exact milling value of the grain. If prices are not right the wheat goes into storage. That's different! This condition makes the prices fight, for millers MUST HAVE the high grade North Dakota wheat, and pay fancy premiums for it!

ARE YOU GETTING THESE PROFITS?

ARE YOU A MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATION?

IF NOT, JOIN NOW! YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO WAIT.

School Teacher Passes Away

Leonard Myrah of Durbin, age 21, rural school teacher died Sunday morning of pneumonia after a week's illness at the local hospital. Mr. Myrah taught in one of the schools in the Little Heart district No. 4. Last Monday just before the big storm he was brought to Mandan in a bob sled.

As his condition was very serious when he arrived, his relatives were notified and his sister, Mrs. August Dittman of Casselton and a brother, Vincent who teaches near Hebron came to Mandan and were with him during his illness.

His mother is dead and his father could not be reached in time. The body was taken to Casselton Sunday where interment will take place.

The Town Criers will give a dance Tuesday Feb. 27.

A. E. Moline left last evening for Cokato, Minn. to attend the funeral of his father, Rev. A. M. Moline who died Sunday and will be buried Wednesday.

R. S. Johnstone and George F. Wilson who have been spending a portion of the winter at Hazen returned home Sunday morning.

Karl Erickson, former coach of the Mandan high school was here from Jamestown to attend the K. P. banquet last night.

Mrs. Frank Carson who has been spending several weeks at the home of her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Nigoy left Monday for her home in Boston.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nagel at the Deaconess hospital Saturday, a baby daughter.

Mrs. R. W. Shimmers will be hostess to the members of the Fort-nightly club Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The program includes a discussion of the Russo-Japanese war with Mrs. G. H. Bingenheimer as leader. Mrs. Joseph Bergheim will have a paper on "The Rise of Democracy" and "Why Japan Would be Mistress of the Sea" is the subject to be read by Mrs. J. A. Biggs.

Kellogg's Bran is prepared to do one thing—AND DO IT WELL!

Kellogg's Bran will permanently relieve constipation, mild or chronic. It is scientifically prepared for that purpose. It is ALL BRAN; therefore it has the necessary bulk to assure results. Foods with a small bran content cannot afford permanent relief.

When your physician or friends advise you to eat Kellogg's Bran, you follow on for the purpose of eliminating a dangerous clogging-up and toxic condition of your system. You can't afford to take half-way measures! Think of the lost time and the dangers of illness you are daily dodging!

What you must have is real bran—KELLOGG'S BRAN, and if you will eat it regularly each day you will become a different person within a week or so. Kellogg's Bran, with its natural bulk, sweeps, cleanses and purifies. It not only gives relief, but it regulates the bowels. Every member of your family should eat it—every day—at least two tablespoons; in chronic cases as much with each meal.

Kellogg's Bran mixed with a hot cereal, or cook it with hot cereals, adding two tablespoons of Bran for each person. Other popular ways are to sprinkle Kellogg's Bran on hot or cold cereals or to eat it as a cereal with hot milk. You can make delicious bakery products with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes on every package.

Kellogg's Bran is not only nationally sold in grocery stores, but can be had in individual packages in first-class hotels and clubs. Ask for it at your restaurant. Be certain to eat Kellogg's Bran daily for health's sake!

INDEPENDENT MEETING IS CALLED HERE

Organization Gathering Set for Saturday Night in Call Issued Today

An organization meeting of Independents was called today for Saturday night in Bismarck in a statement issued by Senator W. H. Porter and Representative D. L. Peters. The call is as follows:

Organization Meeting Called

"Some of the leaders of the Non-partisan League have openly threatened to initiate a recall of Governor Nestor and other state officials, and to prevent much important legislation from becoming operative by resorting to the referendum.

"The old state committee of the Independent Voters association has announced that it ceases to exist on the 15th of next month. Unless steps are taken now to organize under that or some other name there will be no centralized authority or responsibility anywhere to look after the political interests of those who are aligned in state matters as Independent anti-Townley voters.

"It is therefore highly important that steps be taken at once to lay a foundation for a statewide Independent campaign organization, with and through which the Independent cause can be promoted and the state protected from harm at the hands of a few self-seeking demagogues.

"To that end we urge all men and women, regardless of their belief or affiliation with reference to national political issues, who have been members of Independent campaign organizations in one or more campaigns in their respective legislative districts or counties, to meet with the Independent members of the legislature at Bismarck on Saturday night at 7:30 p. m. Feb. 24, for the purpose of agreeing on a plan of organization, selecting a temporary or permanent state campaign committee and doing any and all other things that may by such conference be deemed necessary to do to attain the end sought.

DR. W. H. PORTER, (Democrat), Chairman Independent Senate Committee.

D. L. PETERS, (Republican), Chairman Independent House Committee.

Bismarck, Feb. 20, 1923.

MINOT HOST TO LUTHERANS

Minot, N. D., Feb. 20.—With the Rev. I. D. Yivnsaker of Fargo, president of the conference presiding, the session of the North Dakota district Norwegian Lutheran church of America opened this forenoon at the First Lutheran church here. There is a good attendance which is increasing hourly. The afternoon session was opened at 2 o'clock by Oliver Wee of St. Paul, on the subject, "Justification by Faith."

This evening the Rev. D. Stevie of Grand Forks will preach a sermon to be followed by the congressional address by S. Orwell of Madocock, and alternate, T. L. Reibus of Velva.

AT THE MOVIES

THE ELTINGE

Happily entertaining is Agnes Ayres' new Paramount picture, "A Daughter of Luxury," which will be the main attraction at the Eltinge Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. The star, as Mary Fenton, a girl brought up in luxury and suddenly left destitute, has a role that provides unusual opportunities for entertainment of the sure-to-please variety, and she has made a success of it. Tom Gallery is leading man.

CAPITOL THEATRE

At the Capitol Theatre, yesterday, was presented for the first time the Metro-SIL photoplay, "Quincy Adams Sawyer," a screen version of the popular novel of the same name which established the fame of its author, Charles Felton Pidgin. In its film form it proved a highly interesting piece of work; exciting, humorous, and extraordinarily well played. It bids fair to become one of the most celebrated films of the present year.

In the cast are a galaxy of stars which is unusual to find in one photoplay. It numbers Blanche Sweet, Barbara La Marr, Lon Chaney, June Elvidge, Elmo Lincoln, John Bowers, Louise Fazenda, Zazu Pitts, Hank Mann, Victor Potel, Edward Connelly, and others no less celebrated.

"Quincy Adams Sawyer" was directed by Clarence G. Badger. It was adapted by Bernard McConville.

Grippe

Physicians advise keeping the bowels open as a safeguard against Grippe or influenza.

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—cannot gripe. Try it today.

Nujol

A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

FRIENDS PAY RESPECTS TO MRS. CAMPBELL

Many friends were present yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Campbell on 821 Fourth Street to pay their last respect at the funeral service held for Mrs. Campbell who passed away Sunday.

An abundance of wreaths and bouquets of flowers were symbols of the affection felt by many residents of Bismarck for the deceased. Rev. H. C. Postlethwaite conducted a very impressive service. The pallbearers included: W. S. Mitchell, H. F. O'Hare, W. C. Cashman, and P. Z. Mowry. Interment took place at St. Mary's cemetery.

Hold Funeral for J. Wieble Tomorrow

Funeral services for John Wieble, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wieble of Thirteenth street will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Evangelical church with the Rev. C. P. Strutz officiating. The time was postponed from today until tomorrow in order to allow for the arrival of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hildenbrand, grandparents of the deceased, and John Hildenbrand, an uncle, from Wishek.

Interment will take place at Fairview cemetery.

Require Convenient Mail Receipts at Residences

The citizens of Bismarck must provide some convenient receipt for mail at their residence if they wish the mail men to continue to deliver at their homes. The following announcement comes from the local postal authorities:

"Effective March 1, the Postmaster General has issued instructions that delivery of mail will be discontinued where no door-slots or mail receptacles are provided, and the fact that a large majority of the dwellings are thus equipped already it seems timely, within a reasonable period to require all who are to receive mail by street carriers at their dwellings to provide such accommodations, the expense of same being small.

"It is not the department's desire, of course, that any shall be deprived of this requirement, but rather it is earnestly hoped that all will see the reasonableness of it and its advantage to themselves as well as to the carriers. But if it finally becomes necessary mail delivery will be discontinued where no door-slots (preferably) or mail receptacles are provided.

"If there are any reasons why the foregoing cannot be complied with, kindly advise this office, where your requests and reasons will be referred to the department for their decision before taking the above action."

Very respectfully,
Frank Reed, Postmaster,
By H. Larson, Supt. of Mails.

SMALL TOWN BLAMED FOR CITY VICE CONDITIONS

BY ROH GIBBONS, NEA Staff Correspondent.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—The small town, according to Dr. Philip Yarrow, has been indicted for unwittingly driving hundreds of unsophisticated girls into the growing street-life hordes of the big cities.

The cause, he says, is lack of proper recreational facilities in the country town.

As state superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance Association, Yarrow bases his charge upon startling revelations brought out in a grand jury investigation of Chicago's alleged protected red-light district.

"These girls come to the big city with pure purposes and intent, but fall prey to its snares because they are not adapted to the conditions and environment thrust upon them," he says.

"Better that they did not come at all."

"Make the small town attractive enough for them to stay there. There is no reason why this can't be done. Civic farsightedness could bring that about."

"Seventy per cent. of the victims of vice I have found are recruited from small towns."

"They are not bad at heart, but merely poor misguided creatures, too far from the moral upholders of prevalent unrest. They want to get away from the tawdry pulling parties, in the pillage and other malicious amusements which seem to pull on them."

"Solution of the whole problem lies in education. By reaching young people of high school age with recreational interests which are not suggestive or risqué, and directing their surging ambitions into wholesome channels, and effective cure to the whole difficulty can be effected."

"At least we will keep girls down on the farm where they belong until the dangerous age of adolescence has passed, and they have arrived at the period of life when sound horse sense can steer them away from the hallucinations and pitfalls waiting on Broadway."

CURTAIN CREDITS LUMBER MEN ARE WARNED

Fargo, Feb. 20.—North Dakota lumber men have been arranging their business to suit the farmer too long and the policy has resulted in bad credit in the state, F. C. Potter, of this city, told delegates to the annual convention of state lumber men today.

"Is there any reason why there should be any different credit terms to farmers than any other class of persons?" Mr. Potter asked.

Eighty lumber men were at opening session and many more expected before the close tomorrow. At the afternoon session Harry Alsop of the association recommended a definite code of ethics for members and a national policy of formation.

Credit Limit on Farm Loan Is Boosted to $25,000

Washington, Feb. 20.—One piece of farm credit legislation was passed by house today. It was the Strong bill increasing the maximum of land bank loans to farmers from $10,000 to $25,000 with provisions for loans up to $25,000 in sections of arid areas and subject to the approval of the farm loan board.

Prisoners Caught; Rented Quarters Near Police Matron

Minot, N. D., Feb. 20.—James McCarthy and Jake Williams, prisoners at the county jail who escaped from custody of the sheriff as he was taking them from a clinic were recaptured by John Kane and Lee Brundage of the Minot police. Two fugitives had rented a room in a house next door to police matron's residence. Their action excited the suspicion of their landlord who reported them to police.

VOTE $100,000 FOR FARGO BRIDGE

The house of representatives this afternoon passed a bill appropriating $100,000 out of state motor vehicle license funds for the purpose of aiding in building a bridge across the Red River at Fargo.

Organize Good Seed Association

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 20.—Organization of the North Dakota Crop Improvement association for the purpose of encouraging the use of good seed in this state was effected at a meeting of interested farmers and agricultural workers held at the North Dakota Agricultural college this week.

Directors of the state association elected at the meeting are as follows:

George Hillstad, Blanchard; Walter Reed, Arden; Will Magill, Fargo; A. J. Erickson, Valley City; J. A. Kitchen, Bismarck; Mr. Schenck, Minnott; Prof. H. L. Bolley, Dr. H. L. Walster and E. A. Willson, North Dakota Agricultural college.

NEWSPAPER LEGISLATION IS DOUTFUL

Rep. Vogel declared that he opposed the bill because the newspaper men themselves had prepared bills for the legislature cutting out the rates which had been found excessive and their voluntary action to remove the complaint, made had been ignored, because house bill No. 322 was sent to the state affairs committee instead of the printing committee because "there are many struggling for existence."

Rep. Boyd characterized the rates as unfair to newspapers. He is a job printing business.

Rep. Twichell declared the newspapers had been getting too much and they'd be getting plenty under the bill.

favorable to the latter measure were among those who voted against tabling the Ladd motion.

Whether the motion would be finally disposed of today was a question.

In explaining his vote with three other Democrats in favor of tabling the Ladd motion, Senator Underwood of Alabama, the Democratic leader, said that while he was opposed to the shipping bill he believed it should be permitted to come to a vote and not to defeat it by "indirection." Senators Underwood and Hitchcock, Democrat, Nebraska, both conceded there was a filibuster in operation against the ship bill but Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, charged the filibuster was "any" filibuster. The latter warned administration leaders that unless the measure was put aside there would be an endless stream of motions to lay it over in favor of other legislation.

bill drew 24 to 22 failing of one vote of the constitutional majority required.

Senator Whitmer's bill calling for a bounty on mapples was passed 28 to 19, after the measure had been amended to make the bounty 15 cents instead of 25 cents bounty on crows had been eliminated.

Guaranty Fund Bills

Senate Bills 267, and 250, measures introduced by the majority of the senate committee on banks and banking to strengthen the hands of the state guaranty fund commission in handling the affairs of banks of this state, passed.

Senate Bill 250 provides for the appointment of inspectors by the commission who may make thorough investigation of the affairs of any bank coming under the commission's authority, suspend its receipt of regular deposits and if they see fit make application for a receiver. S. B. 267 gives the supreme court or federal jurisdiction in liquidation of insolvent banks and provides for the appointment of a supreme court commissioner to handle such cases.

Both bills were strongly opposed by Senator B. F. Baker, Non-partisan, who declared that they were simply another step in delivering the government of the state over to the North Dakota Bankers' Association.

A Successful Man

Among the notable professional men of this country who achieved great success along their legitimate lines was Dr. R. V. Pierce. Devoting his attention to the specialty of women's diseases, he became a recognized authority in that line.

Over fifty years ago this noted physician gave to the world a prescription which has never been equaled for the weaknesses of women. Dr. Pierce's of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found out what is naturally best for women's diseases. He learned it all through treating thousands of cases. The result of his studies was a medicine called Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, weakened pangs, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic—a good that druggists everywhere sell it in both tablet and liquid form.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalid Hotel in Buffalo N. Y. for trial pkg. Write for free medical advice.

this talk about the crooked bankers and the honest farmers," replied Senator Lynch of Louisiana. "If we get back into ancient history we find that the first murderer was a farmer not a banker, and coming down to more modern times we find time after time honest patriotic bankers coming to the rescue of the state and nation in time of need."

"I think we've had enough ancient history. Let's get to the vote," remarked Lt. Gov. Frank Hyland. Both bills passed the vote being along party lines.

Senate Bill 267 and several other bills concentrating the work of the various regulatory departments of the state in the hands of a state food commissioner and chemist at the state agricultural college passed without any serious opposition the roll calls being taken in rapid succession fast as the bills were read.

Senator Mikkethun's resolution calling for an investigation of the report of the state industrial commission and the ruling of Justice Stevenson Johnson when he was serving as a referee in bankruptcy was killed when the senate by a vote of 26 to 22 refused to allow the resolution to be printed in the journal.

The committee on delayed bills presented a divided report on the measure dividing along strictly party lines, the majority being for killing it.

GO RIGHT AT IT.

Friends and Neighbors in Bismarck Will Show You a Way.

Get at the root of the trouble. Rubbing an aching back may relieve it. But won't cure it if the kidneys are weak. You must reach the root of it—the kidneys.

Donn's Kidney Pills go right at it; reach the cause, attack the pain. Are recommended by many Bismarck people. Ask your neighbor.

Mrs. J. W. Moran, Sunny Brook Dairy Farm, Bismarck, says: "I had an operation for a floating kidney which was successful but afterwards the other kidney became affected and I suffered for nearly a year with lameness across my back. I got so dizzy I couldn't stand. I went to the hospital and took treatments but got worse all the time. I read about Donn's Kidney Pills being good and got some. After using two boxes I was entirely well and have since stood kidney tests for insurance and passed O. K., thanks to Donn's."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Donn's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Moran had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Kellogg's Bran is prepared to do one thing—AND DO IT WELL!

Kellogg's Bran will permanently relieve constipation, mild or chronic. It is scientifically prepared for that purpose. It is ALL BRAN; therefore it has the necessary bulk to assure results. Foods with a small bran content cannot afford permanent relief.

When your physician or friends advise you to eat Kellogg's Bran, you follow-on for the purpose of eliminating a dangerous clogging-up and toxic condition of your system. You can't afford to take half-way measures! Think of the lost time and the dangers of illness you are daily dodging!

What you must have is real bran—KELLOGG'S BRAN, and if you will eat it regularly each day you will become a different person within a week or so. Kellogg's Bran, with its natural bulk, sweeps, cleanses and purifies. It not only gives relief, but it regulates the bowels. Every member of your family should eat it—every day—at least two tablespoonsful; in chronic cases as much with each meal.

Kellogg's Bran mixed with a hot cereal, or cook it with hot cereals, adding two tablespoonsful of Bran for each person. Other popular ways are to sprinkle Kellogg's Bran on hot or cold cereals or to eat it as a cereal with hot milk. You can make delicious bakery products with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes on every package.

Kellogg's Bran is not only nationally sold in grocery stores, but can be had in individual packages in first-class hotels and clubs. Ask for it at your restaurant. Be certain to eat Kellogg's Bran daily for health's sake!

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

A scheme for getting rich quickly occurred to Rafael Gonzales, of Orizaba, Mexico. He wrote polite and business-like letters to American newspapers, ordering 50 daily and 75 Sunday copies to be sent regularly.

The fishing was good, for Gonzales promised to remit $100 upon receipt of the first shipment of papers. The idea of building up big circulation in Mexico naturally appealed to ambitious publishers. Maybe some of them wondered how many Mexicans could read at all, let alone read English print.

The postoffice inspectors in Washington, D. C., have issued a fraud order against Gonzales, barring him from the mails.

But Gonzales apparently got what he was after, for the official announcement from the inspectors says: "Senor Gonzales has thus obtained large quantities of American newspapers for which he paid nothing and has doubtless realized no small revenue through their sales as wrapping paper."

Lately there has been a regular epidemic of frauds worked on Americans by swindlers in foreign countries using our mails.

In the particular case of Gonzales, it occurs to you that a man of his ingenuity was wasting his time on a waste paper swindle. The same cleverness, applied to an honest and useful proposition, would make him increasingly rich.

The criminal mind, however, seems to have a peculiar warp that makes the getting of wealth by crooked means seem the easiest way. On the law of averages, it is easier to get rich honestly than dishonestly.

You can picture Gonzales, sitting around for months or even years, rolling shuck cigarettes and running his resourceful brain high-speed until he figured out his scheme.

It is almost astounding, the extent to which the human brain will resort to get something for nothing. In other words, to "get by" without honest, useful endeavor.

It is true of swindlers. And it is true of most of us, especially the swindler's victims. Wasting so much time, trying to get something for nothing, is what keeps many people poor. There's not enough time left for really productive effort.

Day-dreams, unless curbed within reasonable bounds, have the same effect as chloroform.

END

The world will come to an end Dec. 12, 1954, predicts Father Genaro Rivera, Mexican monk and astronomer. He figured out the exact date by years of very complicated study of the stars through his telescope. His prediction is making quite a sensation in Mexico.

The end of the world has been predicted more times than you have hairs on your head, but the world still goes along as usual.

One of these days man will be able to understand the fourth dimension. Then our material universe—as we "see" it now, a three-dimensional existence—will undergo such a transformation, in our comprehension of it, that it in effect will "come to an end." Einstein is a voice in the wilderness. Unexplainable psychic manifestations are fourth dimensional phenomena.

GOLD

Gold continues to flow into India, at the rate of more than three million dollars a week. In the last 57 years India has imported nearly three and a half billion dollars worth of gold and silver.

What becomes of this precious metal, is one of the great mysteries of world finance. Much of it is hidden—buried. If it were put to work, circulating from hand to hand in the form of credit, India would have less poverty. A lot of us have the same form of insanity—fighting to get gold for itself alone, rather than the good the gold might do. Just why people try to accumulate more wealth than they need, is a psychological riddle.

FREAK

An auto that will travel on four legs instead of wheels! James William Bryan claims he has invented it. His description says the legs operate somewhat like human legs, going ahead without raising or lowering the body of the car. The speed? Bryan promises 81 miles an hour.

If there is anything more interesting in this week's news, we failed to see it. Recalling the derision that rose when the invention of the first wheeled "horseless carriage" was announced, we play safe and leave the commenting to you. Since a horse can travel on four legs, why not a machine?

"FIGGERS"

America imported 43,646,948 tons of goods from other countries, in the fiscal year ended last June 30. In the same time, shipped abroad only 36,585,004 tons of exports. We ferret this out of a long and complicated government report.

On the surface, it looks as if we are losing out in foreign trade. But tons do not tell the full story, anymore than money value. For instance, we'd have to import many tons of lumber to equal one ton of costly chemicals exported. Statistics tell more truth than any other form of knowledge—also, more lies.

PRICES

Housewives in Chicago, with great glee, are pinching themselves to see if they're awak. They can buy two loaves of bread for a nickel!

The low price is due to a war between two chain store organizations. One kind of war in which the average consumer does not believe in peace conferences.

What's going on, in Chicago, tells you more about the disadvantages of monopoly than a professor could get in a five-pound book.

A VOICE IN THE FOG

Ladies and gentlemen, meet Doc Evans of Dallas, Tex., Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, who will mount the rostrum to explain to you just what the Klan stands for and what it is going to do. Now, Doctor, make it as lucid as you can, for our folks are full of curiosity, and they have heard so many false stories about the motives of the boys in the white nightgowns that they ought to be set right.

Doc Evans sneaking: The spirit of Klan craft has enwrapped the United States in a mantle of love for country which designing and ambitious politicians cannot break.

(note the essential difference between this mottle and the pesky things that come with our Welsh light) and in a few brief years the influence of the Klan will have so engulfed the thought of the country that we can expect intelligent legislation from the congress of the United States which will drag down the white flag of the supine inertia from our legislative halls and raise in its place the militant flag of red, white and blue, which means the thing nearest the heart of every real American.

We feel a trifle dizzy after hearing this, but we think we get the Doc's idea. By wearing a white nightgown we can scare congress into a state of intelligence and secure the right to hang out our flag on national holidays. Well, we are in favor of that. If we can get intelligent legislation from congress by patronizing the January white sales, lead us to the bargain counters. But we do wish the Imperial Wizard would go over his stuff and boil it down a little before handing it around to us seekers after truth and wisdom; for we feel that the caution with which we must grope our way through the fog of his utterances may make us too late for the flag-raising.

Philadelphia Record.

The LUNATIC MINORITY AMONG DRIVERS

"If more people would bother themselves over reporting and following up traffic violations the streets would be safer," said Judge Faust, commenting on his own action in obtaining the same and license number of a driver later fined and imprisoned, who crossed Second boulevard at Palmer avenue at an excessive rate of speed.

There is something to that. We let the law violators get by with their carelessness as long as they do no damage to us. Motorists pass to the right of other cars, pass cars that are themselves passing cars, drive without lights, fail to stop for halted street cars, and otherwise take chances with their own and others' safety. When they escape without hurting themselves or others, nothing is done about it, though usually each act of law violation has its witnesses.

Yet every defiance of the fundamental of safe driving helps make the streets unsafe. It is because the reckless get by many times without accident that they are encouraged to take the chance which ultimately causes a tragedy. Nobody deliberately seeks to endanger himself or others. But long practice and immunity in running risks for the sake of a trivial saving of time accustoms the driver to the idea that he can flout the fundamentals of safe driving as laid down in the police department rules.

If everybody took more interest in reporting violations, our city would not have to melancholy record it has for motor tragedies.

Eliminate the lunatic minority among motorists and all other motorists would be safer.—Detroit News.

A THOUGHT

The hoary head is of a crown of glory, if it be found in the way of righteousness.—Prov. 16:31.

I think that to have known one good old man—one man, who, through the vicissitudes and mischances of a long life, has carried his heart in his hand, like a palm branch, waving all discords into peace—helps our faith in God, in ourselves, and in each other more than many sermons.

—G. W. Curtis.

WELCOME HOME

By Berton Braley
When you drop in at my home town, You'll find the maples drooping down Above the drowsy streets; and see A place that's as it used to be.

A quiet spot, far from the hum And roar of avenue and slum With peace upon it like a crown When you drop in at my home town.

A half a dozen cars or more May group without the general store. About the stove inside you'll find The owners leisurely inclined To sit and spit and try to fix The rights and wrongs of politics. And matters multifarious Which it may please them to discuss.

The churches and the village school. The village green, the swimming pool. You'll find them quite unaltered still. They haven't changed and never will.

So, having sensed the village ways, And lingered for some quiet days, You'll see why I do not go down To visit at my own home town.

"THE BOY GREW OLDER"

"Both." They stared at him. Thayer nodded, still looking at the floor, his tongue sticking suddenly dry lips.

"Oh, both of 'em. One brought on the other. Mrs. Renaud and John Corbin—they called him Tom Langdon back East."

CHAPTER XXI

It was staggering in its unexpectedness. A gasp came from the lips of Barry Houston. He whirled excitedly and grasped the nearest onlooker.

"Go get Medine Robinette. Hurry! Tell her that I have found the proof. She'll understand."

Then, struggling to reassure himself, he turned again to the prisoner. Two hours later, in the last glint of day, the door opened, and a woman came to his side, where he was finishing the last of many closely written sheets of paper. He looked up at her, boyishly, happily. Without waiting for her permission, he grasped her hand, and then, as though eager for her to hear, he turned to the workman-faced man, now slumped dejectedly in his chair.

"You understand, Thayer, that this is your written confession?"

"The man nodded.

"And you are willing to sign it?"

"I'd want to know what I was signing."

"Certainly. I intend to read it to you, so that all witnesses may hear it. It is then to be filed with the district attorney."

A pause. At last:

"My name is Fred Thayer. Until a year ago, I had been employed by the Empire Lake Mill and Lumber Company as superintendent, beginning with it when it was first started by Mr. Houston of Boston."

"I tried two or three times to get him to sell out to me, but we couldn't get together on the terms. He always wanted cash, and I couldn't furnish it. About this time—a nephew of his named Thomas Langdon came out here, under the name of John Corbin. He had been a black sheep and was now wandering about the country."

"Then, a woman came out here, an Agnes Jierdon, a stenographer, on her vacation. I met her and learned that she was from Boston."

A slight pressure exerted itself on Houston's arm. He glanced down to see Medine's Robinette's hand, clasped tight.

"She spent nearly the whole summer here, and I made love to her. I asked her to marry me, and she told me that she would. I wanted to use her—to get her in Houston's office. I wanted to find out what was going on, so that I would know in advance. At the end of her vacation, she went back to Boston and got a job with Houston, as office clerk. Almost the first thing that she wrote me was that the old man was thinking about selling out to some concern back East."

"I made me desperate. Then I thought of Batiste Renaud."

"Ah!" The word was accompanied by a sharp intake of breath as the big French-Canadian moved closer to hear again the story of a murder.

But the sheriff motioned him back. The emotions of the old trapper were not to be trusted. The recital went on.

"Everybody around this country had always talked about how rich we was. There was a saying that he didn't believe in banks and that he kept more than a hundred thousand dollars in his little cabin. At this time, both he and his son were away at war, and I thought I could steal this money, place it in other hands, and then work things so that if I had borrowed the money and bought the mill with it. By this time, a fellow cousin of Miss Jierdon's, a fellow named Jenkins, had gotten a job with Houston and was working with her, and of course, I was hearing everything that went on. It looked like the deal was going through, and it forced me to action. One night I watched Mrs. Renaud and saw her leave the house. I thought she was going to town. Instead, after I'd gotten into the cabin, she came back, surprising me. I killed her, with a revolver."

"Diab!"

"Easy, Batiste. That's the way you gave it to me, isn't it, Thayer?"

"Yes."

Again the door of the tiny lobby opened and closed, and a man edged forward—Blackburn, summoned from his mill.

"When I found the deed box, there was only ten thousand dollars in it instead of the fortune that I had supposed was there. I was about to take it out and stuff it into my pocket, when I heard a noise outside the window. I pushed the box under my coat and ran out the back door. The next day, Corbin—or Langdon—came to me and demanded his share of what I had stolen. He said that he had seen me at the deed box after I had killed the woman. He threatened me again—and then, suddenly, one day disappeared. I learned that he had left for Boston. I knew what was up then; he was going back to tell Old Man Houston and try to step into my shoes when I was arrested. But I beat him there by going over the range in an automobile, and taking an earlier train for Boston. I picked him up when he arrived and trailed him to young Houston's office. After that I saw him go to a cafe, and from there to a prize fight. I had my gun with me—I had made up my mind to kill them both. I thought Langdon had told. After the fight, they started out, myself in the rear. Young Houston had gotten a mallet from the timekeeper. Then they got in a quarrel, and my chance came. Houston ran. When he was well out of sight I crept up behind Langdon and clubbed my revolver, hitting him on the head with it. He fell—dead—and I knew I was safe, that Houston would be accused."

Barry looked earnestly at the man before him.

"That's all true, isn't it, Thayer?"

"I haven't made any objection, have I?" came surely.

"I merely wanted to be sure. But to go on: Then I thought of the way to get what I wanted from Miss Jierdon. Anyway, it ended with her testifying at the trial in a sort of negative way. I didn't care about that—it was something else wanted. I wanted her to switch some papers on young Mr. Houston for me, and she backed against. Then I told her that she had done worse things; that she had perjured herself. She got her cousin to help her in the transfer of the papers; it was a lease and stampage contract. Of course, shortly after that, young Houston came out here again, and I got her to come, too."

"I had dodged marrying her, promising that I would do it when the mill was mine. In the meantime, I had hooked up with this man Blackburn, and he had started a mill for me."

"I guess Miss Jierdon had gotten after all, because when I forced her to the final thing of telling some lies about him to a young woman, she did it, but went away mad at me and threatening never to see me again. Our relations, while she had been at the Houston camp, hadn't been exactly what they should have been. Miss Jierdon is dead—she had stayed in a little cabin in the woods. I had lived with her there. About ten days ago, the baby died, while I was laid up at camp with a sprained hip. Today I went there to find her dead, and while I was there, Renaud and young Houston caught me. This is all I know. I make this statement of my own free will, without coercion, and I swear it to be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help me God."

The little lobby milled and buzzed, drowning the scratching of the pen as a trembling man signed the confession, page by page. Then came the clink of handcuffs. Houston straightened, to find a short, bulky form beside him, Henry Blackburn.

"Well?" questioned that person. "I guess it's up to me, I—I haven't got much against that."

"What do you mean?"

"Simply this, and the bulky Blackburn drew a nervous, sweating hand across his brow. I ain't able to deal with crooks. I'll admit that. But I'm in your hands, Houston. I've got a mill up there and it ain't worth the powder to blow it up—to me, anyway. But with you, it's different. If you want to make me a fair offer, say the word, and I'll go more than halfway. What say?"

"Is tomorrow time enough?"

"Tomorrow or the next day. Suits me."

Then he went on, leaving only three figures in the lobby—the bent, silent form of Batiste Renaud, grave, but rewarded at last in his faithful search; the radiant-eyed Houston, with a freedom that he hardly believed could exist; and a girl who walked to the window and stood looking out a moment before she turned to him. Then impetuously she faced him, her eyes searching his, her hands tight clasped, her whole being one of supplication.

"I'm sorry," she begged. "Can you will you forgive me?"

Boyishly Barry Houston reached forward and drew away a strand of hair that had strayed from place, a spirit of venture in his manner, a buoyant tone in his voice.

"Say it again. I like it!"

"But I am—don't you believe me?"

"Of course. But then—I—I—"

Then he caught her hands. "Will you go with me while I telegraph?" he asked in sudden earnestness. "I want to wire to the papers back in Boston and tell them that I've been vindicated. Will you—?"

"I'll be glad to."

"They went out, the door together, Houston beaming happily downward, the girl close beside him, her arm in his. And it was then that the features of Batiste Renaud lost their gravity and sorrow. He looked after them, his eyes soft and contented. Then his big hands parted slowly. His lips broke into a smile of radiant happiness.

Social and Personal

Valley People Prove Hospitable Hosts to Visitors

For about seventy-five men from Bismarck and various other towns of this vicinity who were snow-bound at Golden Valley last week, the time proved to be one with a spirit of social flavor. They were entertained by the Valley citizens from the time of their arrival in a very hospitable manner, and by Friday night, the night before their departure, a regular banquet was given in their honor by the business men of the city and their wives, at the Odd Fellows hall.

At Hobbs, mayor of Golden Valley, and David Swartz, state attorney of Mercer county, took charge of arranging the turkey dinner and trimmings. Nothing was forgotten, even home-made ice cream frozen with the snow which held them in.

Following the 6:30 o'clock dinner the company played cards until 8 o'clock in the morning. Checkers, whist, and chess were favorites with the assemblage.

An important part of the evening's program consisted in talks by various of the leading business men of the city on the resources and wonders of their community. The speaker stated that Golden Valley rested upon a 19-foot vein of coal, and all the speakers spoke about the plans of the Valley people to develop diversified farming and what had already been accomplished along this line in their fertile community.

Methodists Observe Church Night

Church night will be observed Wednesday evening at the McCabe Methodist Episcopal church. Supper will be served at six o'clock. At seven o'clock the service of prayer and praise will be held after which there will be a meeting of the Boy Scouts. All members and friends of the church are urged to attend.

ENGINEERS DINNER AND DANCE
The annual banquet and dance of the North Dakota chapter of the American Association of Engineers and the North Dakota society of engineers will be held Wednesday evening, Feb. 21 at the McKenzie hotel. The banquet will be served at 7:30 o'clock in the hotel dining room. F. H. Peters and J. W. Roberts have charge of the management of this part of the program. The dance will be held at Patterson hall beginning at 9:30 o'clock.

HOLD GEORGE WASHINGTON PARTY.
Twenty-five members of the Business and Professional Women's club were delightfully entertained at a George Washington party in their club rooms last evening. Dancing was the main diversion of the evening's entertainment. Miss Irene Anderson furnished the music for the festivity. Refreshments of cherry pie and coffee were served by the committee in charge.

BIRTHDAY PARTY
Mrs. Charles S. Fossum of 1007 Fifth Street gave a birthday party for her little son, Charles, age four years, yesterday afternoon. Fourteen little tots were present to help celebrate the occasion. Decorations were carried out in pink and white, a large bowl of sweet peas forming a centerpiece on the dining room table.

DYE OLD DRESS OR DRAPERY IN DIAMOND DYES

Buy "Diamond Dyes" and follow the simple directions in every package. Don't wonder whether you can dye, or tint successfully, because perfect home dyeing is guaranteed with Diamond Dyes even if you have never dyed before. Worn, faded dresses, skirts, waists, coats, sweaters, stockings, draperies, hangings, or anything become like new again. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade, or run.

CHILDREN'S GARB RECALLS QUILTING PARTY PRODUCTS

The newest, smartest, prettiest dresses for little girls recall the products of the old-time quilting parties.

The materials are crepes in deep rose, Chinese blue or gold color.

The only trimming is the little white tufts of tied yarn, making a regular pattern.

Among the many new garments for the little ones are romper dresses—like the one sketched with short bloomers that show a turned-back cuff beneath the skirt hem.

The plain coat shown is of camel-hair; the dress-up coat fine broadcloth.

George Washington

February 22, 1732
December 14, 1799

We think of George Washington, usually, as the patriot leader and first president of the nation. It is well to remember that he was also a careful and successful business man. He conducted many farms in person or by rental, was a heavy investor in town lots and large tracts of land, the holder of stocks and bonds in numerous enterprises.

Having been a shareholder for many years in the Bank of England, he was interested and became a stockholder in banks which after the Revolution were established in the United States.

In all of his business transactions he was careful, accurate and punctual. Had he lived in the Twentieth Century, he would be recognized as one of our Captains of Industry.

Social and Personal

Valley People Prove Hospitable Hosts to Visitors

For about seventy-five men from Bismarck and various other towns of this vicinity who were snow-bound at Golden Valley last week, the time proved to be one with a sort of social flavor. They were entertained by the Valley citizens from the time of their arrival in a very hospitable manner, and by Friday night, the night before their departure, a regular banquet was given in their honor by the business men of the city and their wives, at the Old Fellows hall.

Art Hobbins, mayor of Golden Valley, and David Swartz, state attorney of Mercer county, took charge of arranging the turkey dinner and trimmings. Nothing was forgotten, even home-made ice cream frozen with the snow which held them in.

Following the 6:30 o'clock dinner the company played cards until 3 o'clock in the morning. Checkers, whist, and chess were favorites with the assemblage.

An important part of the evening's program consisted in talks by various of the leading business men of the city on the resources and wonders of their community. One speaker stated that Golden Valley rested upon a 19-foot vein of coal, and all the speakers spoke about the plans of the Valley people to develop diversified farming and what had already been accomplished along this line in their fertile community.

The visitors who attended the celebration declared that they would always remember the hospitality and progressive spirit of the citizens.

Methodists Observe Church Night

Church night will be observed Wednesday evening at the McCabe Methodist Episcopal church. Supper will be served at six o'clock. At seven o'clock the service of prayer and praise will be held after which there will be a meeting of the Boy Scouts. All members and friends of the church are urged to attend.

ENGINEERS DINNER AND DANCE

The annual banquet and dance of the North Dakota chapter of the American Association of Engineers and the North Dakota society of engineers will be held Wednesday evening, Feb. 21 at the McKenzie hotel. The banquet will be served at 7:30 o'clock in the hotel dining room. F. H. Peters and J. W. Rohrer have charge of arrangements for this part of the program. The dance will be held at Patterson hall beginning at 9:30 o'clock.

HOLD GEORGE WASHINGTON PARTY

Twenty-five members of the Business and Professional Women's club were delightfully entertained at a George Washington party in their club rooms last evening. Dancing was the main diversion of the evening's entertainment. Miss Irene Anderson furnished the music for the guests. Refreshments of cherry pie and coffee were served by the committee in charge.

A favorite occupation with the women of the city during the winter season has been the study of paper rope weaving, the art of making paper flowers, moulding wax, and the designing of favors for parties and paper costumes as taught by Mrs. A. S. Kelsven at Harris-Woodman's.

Since the legislature has been in session but few of the wives of the law makers escaped the fever to dabble in Dennison Art Work. A number of really beautiful floor lamps, trays, vases, and baskets constructed from wire frames and paper rope have been designed by the women and proudly taken with them to decorate their respective homes.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

A scheme for getting rich quickly occurred to Rafael Gonzales, of Orizaba, Mexico. He wrote polite and business-like letters to American newspapers, ordering 50 daily and 75 Sunday copies to be sent regularly.

The fishing was good, for Gonzales promised to remit $100 upon receipt of the first shipment of papers. The idea of building up big circulation in Mexico naturally appealed to ambitious publishers. Maybe some of them wondered how many Mexicans could read at all, let alone read English print.

The postoffice inspectors in Washington, D. C., have issued a fraud order against Gonzales, barring him from the mails.

But Gonzales apparently got what he was after, for the official announcement from the inspectors says: "Senor Gonzales has thus obtained large quantities of American newspapers for which he paid nothing and has doubtless realized no small revenue through their sales as wrapping paper."

Lately there has been a regular epidemic of frauds worked on Americans by swindlers in foreign countries using our mails.

In the particular case of Gonzales, it occurs to you that a man of his ingenuity was wasting his time on a waste paper swindle. The same cleverness, applied to an honest and useful proposition, would make him increasingly rich.

The criminal mind, however, seems to have a peculiar warp that makes the getting of wealth by crooked means seem the easiest way. On the law of averages, it is easier to get rich honestly than dishonestly.

You can picture Gonzales, sitting around for months or even years, rolling shuck cigarettes and running his resourceful brain high-speed until he figured out his scheme.

It is almost astounding, the extent to which the human brain will resort to get something for nothing. In other words, to "get by" without honest, useful endeavor.

It is true of swindlers. And it is true of most of us, especially the swindler's victims. Wasting so much time, trying to get something for nothing, is what keeps many people poor. There's not enough time left for really productive effort.

Day-dreams, unless curbed within reasonable bounds, have the same effect as chloroform.

END

The world will come to an end Dec. 12, 1954, predicts Father Genaro Rivera, Mexican monk and astronomer. He figured out the exact date by years of very complicated study of the stars through his telescope. His prediction is making quite a sensation in Mexico.

The end of the world has been predicted more times than you have hairs on your head, but the world still goes along as usual.

One of these days man will be able to understand the fourth dimension. Then our material universe—as we "see" it now, a three-dimensional existence—will undergo such a transformation, in our comprehension of it, that it in effect will "come to an end." Einstein is a voice in the wilderness. Unexplainable psychic manifestations are fourth dimensional phenomena.

GOLD

Gold continues to flow into India, at the rate of more than three million dollars a week. In the last 57 years India has imported nearly three and a half billion dollars worth of gold and silver.

What becomes of this precious metal, is one of the great mysteries of world finance. Much of it is hidden—buried. If it were put to work, circulating from hand to hand in the form of credit, India would have less poverty. A lot of us have the same form of insanity—fighting to get gold for itself alone, rather than the good the gold might do. Just why people try to accumulate more wealth than they need, is a psychological riddle.

FREAK

An auto that will travel on four legs instead of wheels! James William Bryan claims he has invented it. His description says the legs operate somewhat like human legs, going ahead without raising or lowering the body of the car. The speed? Bryan promises 84 miles an hour. If there is anything more interesting in this week's news, we failed to see it. Recalling the derision that rose when the invention of the first wheeled "horseless carriage" was announced, we play safe and leave the commenting to you. Since a horse can travel on four legs, why not a machine?

"FIGGERS"

America imported 43,646,948 tons of goods from other countries, in the fiscal year ended last June 30. In the same time, shipped abroad only 36,585,004 tons of exports. We ferret this out of a long and complicated government report. On the surface, it looks as if we are losing out in foreign trade. But tons do not tell the full story, anymore than money value. For instance, we'd have to import many tons of lumber to equal one ton of costly chemicals exported. Statistics tell more truth than any other form of knowledge—also, more lies.

PRICES

Housewives in Chicago, with great glee, are pinching themselves to see if they're awak. They can buy two loaves of bread for a nickel!

The low price is due to a war between two chain store organizations. One kind of war in which the average consumer does not believe in peace conferences.

What's going on, in Chicago, tells you more about the disadvantages of monopoly than a professor could get in a five-pound book.

A VOICE IN THE FOG

Ladies and gentlemen, meet Doc Evans of Dallas, Tex., Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, who will mount the rostrum to explain to you just what the Klan stands for and what it is going to do. Now, Doctor, make it as lucid as you can, for our folks are full of curiosity, and they have heard so many false stories about the natives of the boys in the white nighties that they ought to be set right. Doc Evans speaking:

The spirit of klan craft has enwrapped the United States in a mantle of love for country which designing and ambitious politicians cannot break—and in a few brief years the influence of the klan will have so engulfed the thought of the country that we can expect intelligent legislation from the congress of the United States which will drag down the white flag of the supine inertia from our legislative halls and raise in its place the militant flag of red, white and blue, which means the thing nearest the heart of every real American.

(note the essential difference between this mantle and the peaky things that come with our Welsh lull light)

We feel a trifle dizzy after hearing this, but we think we get the Doc's idea. By wearing a white nightgown we raise a scare congress into a state of intelligence and secure the right to hang out our flag on national holidays. Well, we are in favor of that. If we can get intelligent legislation from congress by patronizing the January white sales, lead us to the bar-bain counters. But we do wish the Imperial Wizard would go over his stuff and boil it down a little before, having it read to us seekers after truth and wisdom; for we feel that the caution with which we must grope our way through the fog of his utterances may make us too late for the flag-raising. Philadelphia Record.

THE LUNATIC MINORITY AMONG DRIVERS

"If more people would bother themselves over reporting and following up traffic violations the streets would be safer," said Judge Faust, commenting on his own action in obtaining the same and license number of a driver later fined and imprisoned, after he crossed Second boulevard at Palmer avenue at an excessive rate of speed.

There is something to that. We let the law violators get by their carelessness as long as they do no damage to us. Motorists pass to the right of other cars, pass cars that are themselves passing cars, drive without lights, fail to stop for halted street cars, and otherwise take chances with their own and others' safety. When they escape without hurting themselves or others nothing is done about it, though usually each act of law violation has its witnesses.

Yet every defiance of the fundamental of safe driving helps make the streets unsafe. It is because the reckless get by many times without accident that they are encouraged to take the chance which ultimately causes a tragedy. Nobody deliberately seeks to endanger himself or others. But long practice and immunity in running risks, for the sake of trivial saving of time accustoms the driver to the idea that he can flout the fundamentals of safe driving as laid down in the police department rules.

If everybody took more interest in reporting violations, our city would not have the melancholy record it has in motor tragedies.

Eliminating the lunatic minority among motorists and all other motorists would be safer. Detroit News.

A THOUGHT

The hoary head is off a crown of glory, if it be found in the way of righteousness—Prov. 16:31.

I think that to have known one good old man—one man, who, through the chances and mischances of a long life, has carried his heart in his hand, like a palm branch, waving all discords into peace—helps our faith in God, in ourselves, and in each other more than many sermons. G. W. Curtis.

WELCOME HOME

By Bertion Bracey

When you drop in at my home town, You'll find the mules drooping down Above the drowsy streets, and see A plow that's as it used to be. A quiet spot, far from the hum And roar of avenue and slum With peace upon it like a crown When you drop in at my home town.

A half a dozen cars or more May group without the general store. About the stove inside you'll find The owners leisurely inclined To sit and spit and try to fix The rights and wrongs of politics. And matters multifarious Which it may please them to discuss.

The churches and the village school, The village green, the swimming pool, You'll find them quite unaltered still. They haven't changed and never will.

So, having sensed the village ways, And lingered for some quiet days, You'll see why I do not go down To visit at my own home town. (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service)

"THE BOY GREW OLDER"

"Both?" They stared at him. Thayer nodded, still looking at the floor, his tongue feeling suddenly dry.

"Both of 'em. One brought on the other. Mrs. Renaud and John Corbin. They called him Tom Langdon back East."

CHAPTER XXI

It was staggering in its unexpectedness. A gasp came from the lips of Barry Houston. He whirled excitedly and grasped the nearest onlooker.

"What got you and the Rebekah, Barry? Tell her that I have found the proof. She'll understand."

Then, struggling to reassure himself, he turned again to the prisoner. Two hours later, in the last ghastly of day, the door opened, and a woman came to his side, where he was finishing the last of many closely written sheets of paper. He looked up at her, hesitantly, happily. Without waiting for her permission, he grasped her hand, and there, as though eager for her to beg, he turned to the workman, now slumped dejectedly in his chair.

"You understand, Thayer, that this is my written confession?"

The man nodded.

"And you are willing to sign it?"

"I'd want to know what I was signing."

"Certainly. I intend to read it to you so that all witnesses may hear it. It is then to be filed with the district attorney."

A pause. At last:

"My name is Fred Thayer. Until a year ago, I had been employed by the Empire Lake Mill and Lumber Company as superintendent, beginning with it when it was first started by Mr. Houston of Boston."

I tried two or three times to get him to sell out to me, but we couldn't get together on the terms. He always wanted cash, and I couldn't furnish it. About this time a nephew of his named Thomas Langdon came out here, under the name of John Corbin. He had been a black sheep and was now wandering about the country.

"Then a woman came out here, an Agnes Jierdon, a stenographer, on her vacation. I met her and learned that she was from Boston."

A slight pressure exerted itself on Houston's arm. He glanced down to see Medaine's Robinette's hand, clasped tight.

"She spent nearly the whole summer here, and I made love to her. I asked her to marry me, and she told me that she would. I wanted to use her—to get her in Houston's office. I wanted to find out what was going on, so that I would know in advance. At the end of her vacation, she went back to Boston and got a job with Houston, as office clerk. Almost the first thing that he wrote me was that the old man was thinking about selling out to some concern back East."

"It made me desperate. Then I thought of Batiste Renaud."

"Ah!" The word was accompanied by a sharp intake of breath as the big French-Canadian moved closer to hear again the story of a murder. The emotions of the old trapper were not to be trusted. The recital went on:

"Everybody around this country had always talked about how rich he was. There was a saying that he didn't believe in banks and that he kept more than a hundred thousand dollars in his little cabin. At this time, both he and his son were away at war, and I thought I could steal this money, place it in other hands, and then work things so that if I had borrowed the money and bought the mill with it. By this time, a cousin of Miss Jierdon's, a fellow me and threatening never to see me again. Our relations, while she had been at the Houston camp, hadn't been exactly what they should have been. Miss Jierdon is dead—she had stayed in a little cabin in the woods. I had lived with her there. About ten days ago, the baby died, while I was laid up at camp with a sprained hip. Today I went there to find her dead; and while I was there, Renaud and young Houston caught me. This is all I know. I make this statement of my own free will, without coercion, and I swear it to be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing, but the truth, so help me God."

The little lobby milled and buzzed, drowning the scratching of the pen as a trembling man signed the confession, page by page. Then came the clink of handcuffs. Houston straightened, to find a short, bulky form beside him, Henry Blackburn. "Well, you questioned that person. I guess it's up to me. I haven't got much against that."

"What do you mean?"

"Simply this, and the bulky Blackburn drew a nervous, sweating hand across his brow. 'I ain't above dealing with crooks. I'll admit that. But I'm in your hands, Houston. I've got a mill up there and it ain't worth the powder to blow it up—to me, anyway. But with you, it's different. If you want to make me a fair offer, say the word, and I'll go more than halfway. What say?"

"Is tomorrow time enough?"

"Tomorrow—or the next—day. Suits me."

Then he went on, leaving only three figures in the lobby—the silent form of Batiste Renaud, grave, but regarded at last in a faithful search; the radiant-eyed Houston, free with a freedom that he hardly believed could exist; and a girl who walked to the window and stood looking out a moment before she turned to him. Then, impetuously she faced him, her eyes searching his, her hands tight clasped, her whole being one of supplication.

"Stimie, Stimie," she begged. "Can you—will you forgive me?"

He looked at her, and then, how about the bank clerks who count other people's money all day long?"

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

The Twins went along the road of Mix-Up Land, asking everyone they met where Jack Straw's palace was. Bye and bye they met a nice, old man and asked him.

"We don't know where it is today," he answered. "Some days it's on top of the hill. Some days it is out on an island in the sea, some days it's up in the air, and the rest of it they we don't know where it is. If it would only stay put, we could get an army of soldiers and put Jack Straw out."

"But you see, he has a magic ring and whenever he sees us coming he turns this ring and his palace hops off to another place."

"But doesn't he ever take a walk?" asked Nick.

"Yes," he does, but it's the same thing, very time he sees someone coming he turns his ring and his enemy suddenly finds himself standing on his head—or up a tree, or down a well or some place like that. We've done all we can, but it's of no use."

"Please, sir, what is your name," asked Nancy, for under his old clothes she had spied a bit of purple velvet.

"Me? Well I wasn't going to tell you my name, but I see you have spied my velvet jacket. As long as I wear this velvet jacket under my coat, I have some hope of getting to be king again. I am King Even-Steven, whom Jack Straw put out."

"Oh!" cried the Twins, delightedly. "Then we are going to help you. The Fairy Queen sent us to Mix-Up Land to put Jack Straw out and put you in. We are Nancy and Nick, at your service."

"Thank you," answered King Even-Steven, "but I fear you are going to have hard work of it. If Jack Straw finds it out, he may turn his ring and you'll find your selves now any place at all—in a whale's stomach, or on top of a church steeple or something like that."

"But we have our magic Green Shoes!" declared Nancy proudly. "Jack Straw may wish us into trouble, but we can wish ourselves out again."

"Good!" declared King Even-Steven. "But lookout for a man with a peg leg. Jack Straw has one."

Wisconsin's Fast Basketball Team Is Making Strong Bid for Another Big Ten Championship

Billy Evans Says—

Who will handle the speedy shoots of Walter Johnson during the coming season?

The recent trade between Washington and Boston of the American League which involved the transfer of Val Picinich deprives Johnson of his battery mate.

Since joining the Washington club three catchers have done practically all the receiving for the speedball king. Charley Street, Eddie Ainsmith and Val Picinich.

Walter Johnson and Charley Street was the first battery to feature the famous Washington pitcher. As a matter of fact, much of Walter's early success was due to excellent handling on the part of Street.

I once asked Walter Johnson if his pitching was affected to a certain extent by his catcher, and he frankly admitted that proper catching played a most important part in his success as a pitcher. He then proceeded to pay Street a nice compliment:

"I never expect to pitch to a better catcher than 'Gabby' Street," said Johnson. He certainly was a wonder. I never gave a thought as to a wild pitch with him doing the catching. I always felt that he would get the ball no matter where I threw it. And then there was the question of base runners. No matter how big a lead I gave the runners Street somehow always flagged them at second. He threw strikes to that base. I never was able to pitch too fast to suit him. I can smile now when I think of him. When I was putting every ounce of energy back of the ball he would be grabbing in that southern drawl of his: "Come on, Walter, put something on the ball. Your arm must be sore."

With the passing of Street, Eddie Ainsmith became Johnson's battery partner. It is a rather peculiar fact that the catchers who have acted as Johnson's partners with the exception of Street, have confined their efforts almost entirely to handling Johnson.

It is also an interesting fact that other catchers rated as star performers never met with much success in catching Johnson's shoots. I have in mind John Henry and Eddie Gharriety.

Henry was with Washington at the same time as Ainsmith. Henry caught practically every other pitcher. A number of times he essayed working with Johnson when Ainsmith was injured, but never did very well. I regard Eddie Gharriety as one of the best catchers in baseball, yet Ed didn't have much success handling Walter. There really is no explanation. It just so happens.

Now that Picinich has passed out of the picture Walter will draw a new catcher. Muddy Ruel, acquired by Washington in the Boston deal, will probably be assigned to the job. Ruel likes speed, so he ought to be right at home with Johnson.

LAJOIE ENJOYS UNIQUE RECORD

Larry Lajoie holds a unique batting record, something for the crack hitters to shoot at.

Larry finished with an average better than 400 that year. Other batters have walloped the ball for 400 or better averages, so there is nothing unusual in the high mark Larry made in 1901.

The unusual feature of Larry's batting during the 1901 season was that in making his mark of better than 400 he never once fell below that average during the entire campaign.

That is certainly a mark of consistent work at the bat. Larry was always that style batter, slumps in hitting were a rarity with him.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 20.—"Wonder coach of the west," is a title that well fits Dr. W. E. Meanwell, in charge of Wisconsin's basketball five.

Dr. Meanwell first became associated with Wisconsin in 1912 as basketball coach. That year the Badgers won their first "Big Ten" championship. During the next five years he won four titles and finished third once.

In 1917 Meanwell went to University of Missouri and twice won the Missouri Valley conference title.

Returning to Wisconsin in 1921, he came right back with a title for the championship. Last season his team was tied for second place.

All told, since 1912 Coach Meanwell's team have won six championships. This year Meanwell has visions of capturing another "Big Ten" title.

Dr. W. E. Meanwell opened the season at Wisconsin this year with two veterans, Williams and Tebell, with which to build a team.

In the preliminary games, before the smoothness of the short pass style of play had begun to show up, the team lost two games. Marquette and Butler both managed to win by a small margin.

In the opening tilt of the Big Ten Conference at Northwestern, the men found their place and have not been defeated in the four conference games since, meeting Northwestern, Indiana, Chicago and Minnesota.

Michigan and Purdue loom up as the danger points on the Badgers' schedule, but the form that is now being shown should pull them through with at least one of the games to Wisconsin's credit in both series.

McBride Weakest Hitter to Ever Win Major League Berth

Almost every ball club, especially in the big leagues, has at least one "set up" in its battle front.

That is a player who never casts much fear into the opposition when ever he steps to the plate because he can't hit either in a pinch or out of one.

In other words, fellows who do well to massage the agate around the 225 mark.

It is doubtful if there was ever a more lamentably weak hitter to grace a big league plate than was George McBride, former manager of the Washington club, and for many years a shortstop on the same team. In the parlance of the game, George couldn't "hit the size of his hat," and hurlers throughout the American League has a happy faculty of passing men, when in a pinch, just so as to get at McBride, and invariably the strategy worked to perfection.

"Mac" simply couldn't swat the old apple. He wasn't what might be termed a "whiffer," usually being able to make connections with the ball, but he couldn't drive 'em safe. He was either popping out or sending meekly little taps to the infield. McBride was a consistent ".200" hitter, seldom getting much above that figure. In his second season in the main canopy he accrued a batting average of but .169, making 53 hits in 90 games. Incidentally that "stunning" stick work earned him his release from the St. Louis Cardinals. That was in 1906. Two years later he got on with Washington, where he finished his major league playing days.

Coupled to his batting shortcomings, McBride was anything but a fast man on the sacks, seldom pilfering over 15 cushions a season. Nor was he a good "waiter." All of which probably accounts for the fact that McBride usually batted in eighth position in the Nationals' lineup. But McBride, nevertheless, hung on to his job with bulldoglike tenacity because he was a good man at the bat. He could pick 'em up around short with the best of them. He had a stout whip and was fast at getting over territory. In addition to this he possessed a good baseball head, knew the game, and was a tireless worker.

And thus was George McBride kept on the Washington payroll for over a dozen years—simply because he could field. He was a veritable balldom on defense.

AMENDMENTS OF HOUSE GO TO COMMITTEE

Rep. Paul Johnson, Pembina, said he voted for the bill because "I believe this is the best money the state of North Dakota ever spent."

Rep. Orange, Stateman, voted for the bill, stating that men who had been in the house two years ago and in whom he had confidence, told him that the amounts charged were reasonable, the investigation had accomplished good, and the house had unanimously accepted the report two years ago.

Depository Act O. K'd.

The house also passed H. B. 194, a depository act regulating the deposit of public funds except as to the state of North Dakota, permitting deposit of funds in private banks or the Bank of North Dakota, and regulating the interest and requiring bonds be obtained by officials before money is deposited in any bank. It is provided interest shall not be less than 2 per cent on call deposits and 4 per cent on time deposits. The vote was 59 to 53, with one absent. On house bill No. 124, appropriating $12,065.15 to pay the Bishop, Brissman company of St. Paul for the audit of state industries conducted over two years ago at the instance of the board of auditors, the vote was 63 to 49 for passage, with one absent.

House bill No. 238, amending the state hail insurance law to permit the commissioner of insurance to borrow money to pay part of losses before the hail tax is ascertained, passed 98 to 17, 1 absent.

Bills killed by the house during this session included the Watt bill, No. 247 and 248, which would have levied a "luxury tax" on theater tickets and on cigars and tobacco. The bill to reappropriate the legislative districts on the state was reported in on divided report, the report being accepted by a vote of 55 to 51.

The house adopted a senate resolution advocated by the Missouri Slope Irrigation Congress, calling upon the President and the United States and congress for the return for use in North Dakota of over $12,000,000 obtained from the sale of public lands and used for irrigation purposes in other states.

An effort made to reconsider the Rustad bill killed the day previous, providing workmen's compensation insurance may be carried either in the state fund or with private companies, failed, 49 to 29.

Mrs. Craig's Remarks.

Mrs. Minnie Craig, Benson county, one of the two women representatives in the lower house of the legislature, created a sensation when she arose in the house and declared that liquor had been brought into the state capital and that "I am not going to stand for it."

Prefacing her statement by saying she had heard much about patriotism and law observance, she declared that she had observed much law violation. "I do not intend to endure a repetition of the last night's session of this house two years ago," she declared. "Liquor has been brought to this capital and has been consumed herein."

Closing her remarks she declared that "I have given you warning. I mean action."

NEW ENGLAND MAN DIES

Dickinson, N. D., Feb. 20.—Carl E. Talmadge, well known business man of New England and resident of the Slope country since 1913, died at his home in New England on Saturday night after a brief illness. Complications resulting from an attack of influenza were the cause of Mr. Talmadge's death.

COMPANY ASKS NEW FRANCHISE OF DICKINSON

Dickinson, N. D., Feb. 20.—The Hughes & Deiters Electric company has applied to the city commission for a renewal of its franchise in Dickinson for a period of 20 years. The commission wishing to learn the attitude of the citizens in regard to the matter will not take definite action at present but will give all interested persons an opportunity to express their views before it is given final consideration under the regular order of business.

The franchise now held by the company was issued in 1901 to run for a period of 25 years, consequently three years remain before its expiration. It is the desire of the company, however, to undertake extensive building improvements during the coming year. A. H. Deiters, of the electric company, stated in an interview that in order to carry their plans into effect that it would be necessary to float a bond issue of at least $50,000. These bonds would run for 20 years and to dispose of them to advantage would necessitate the extension of the franchise over an equal or greater length of time.

Plans of the company for the present year include the construction of a high line east as far as Richardson to furnish current for light and power at Lehigh, Gladstone, Taylor and Richardson.

Mrs. Hall Succumbs After Long Illness

Mrs. W. R. Hall of Glen Ullin died at her home Monday morning at 2:20 o'clock after a protracted illness of diabetes, aged 51 years.

Deceased was a daughter of Frank Lechtounger of Helbron and had a host of friends in the western part of the country who will be pained to learn of her death.

She leaves besides her husband, who is the publisher of the Glen Ullin News, one brother, C. W. Lechtounger of Helbron and two sisters, Mrs. O. McGrath of Glen Ullin and Mrs. Dan Burkholder of Portland, Ore., also two step daughters, Thelma and Lucille Hall.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning from the Catholic church at Glen Ullin.

Pioneer Resident Dies in Miles City

Lars J. Erickson, one of the pioneer residents of Mandan, died Friday evening at the home of his daughter in Miles City, aged 67 years.

Mr. Erickson came to Mandan over 30 years ago. For seven or eight years he served the city as street commissioner and about a year ago his health failing he went west with his wife.

Last week Mr. Erickson and his wife arrived in Mandan during the blizzard. He was on his way to the Mayo hospital at Rochester for an operation. His condition was very critical and physicians advised that he probably would not survive until Rochester was reached. He lay ill at the Lewis & Clark hotel for several days and then took a train Thursday for Miles City. He died about an hour after reaching there.

Surviving are his wife and five daughters: Mrs. Hanson of Flasher, Mrs. Hauge, Mrs. Bloom and Mrs. Larson of Miles City and Mrs. Henry Gardiner of Aberdeen, Wash.; two sons, Melvin of Miles City and Edward who is in Alaska.

ORIGINAL GARDEN IN N. D.

Mandan, N. D., Feb. 19.—The Garden of Eden wasn't in Asia, it was in North Dakota.

This is the word of the editor of the Shields Enterprise. He bases his assertion upon the alleged fact that when a lignite vein near Shields was opened the prints of bare feet were seen in the coal and a large fossil fig leaf was found embedded in near by. The tracks extended all the way across the exposed part of the vein, 150 feet.

"Adam and Eve went south when ordered from the Garden," said the editor. The direction of the footprints prove that!

Advertised Goods Reach You Without Lost Motion

A BIG PART OF THE COST OF LIVING TODAY MAY BE CHARGED TO LOST MOTION, TO SLOW, SLIPSHOD DISTRIBUTION OF GOODS, AND TO OLD-STYLE, WASTEFUL SELLING METHODS.

For example, every year tons of fruits and vegetables rot on the ground, because it doesn't pay to pick them. Discouraged growers plant less the next season, and the supply of food is reduced. Meanwhile, consumers in the cities near by grumble over high prices. Demand and supply are not brought together.

Contrast this with the handling of oranges. $1,000,000 a year is spent for advertising by the co-operative association of the California Fruit Growers. A large sum; yet it is only about one-fifth of a cent per dozen—one-sixtieth of a cent for each orange sold.

And this advertising has kept down the cost of oranges. To quote an official of the Exchange:

"The cost of selling oranges and lemons through the California Fruit Growers' Exchange is lower today than it was ten years ago.

"In the twelve years since the first campaign was launched the consumption of California oranges has doubled. The American consumer has been taught by co-operative advertising to eat nearly twice as many oranges as before.

"Had the orange industry remained on the old basis, there would have been no profit in growing oranges. New acreage would not have been planted. Orchards would most surely have been uprooted and other crops planted."

Advertising, properly done, saves money for the consumer and makes money for the producer by driving out wasteful methods, increasing volume and cutting down the costs of selling and distribution.

BROTHERS IN SAME JAIL

Minneapolis, Feb. 19.—Two brothers, Dave and Louis Uglad, of Devils Lake, N. D., were lodged in the Hennepin county jail Saturday night, the former upon request of Devils Lake authorities, and the latter for alleged wife desertion.

Deputy Sheriff John McGuire said he had sought Louis Uglad for two weeks, but that the brother informed him Louis was in Montana. McGuire called Dave Uglad to his office for further questioning, and at the same time sent another deputy to a downtown hotel to look for the brother. While questioning Dave, a messenger boy arrived and handed McGuire a telegram, which asked that Dave be held for the Devils Lake police. A deputy informed McGuire that he had found Louis at the hotel. McGuire then repeated the telephone to the brother, who arose to leave, when McGuire handed him the telegram, asking his arrest. The brothers were placed in separate cells at the Hennepin county jail.

Billy Evans Says—

Who will handle the speedy shoots of Walter Johnson during the coming season?

The recent trade between Washington and Boston of the American League which involved the transfer of Val Picinich deprives Johnson of his battery mate.

Since joining the Washington club, three catchers have done practically all the receiving for the speedball king, Charley Street, Eddie Ainsmith and Val Picinich.

Walter Johnson and Charley Street was the first battery to feature the famous Washington pitcher. As a matter of fact, much of Walter's early success was due to excellent handling on the part of Street.

I once asked Walter Johnson if his pitching was affected to a certain extent by his catcher, and he frankly admitted that proper catching played a most important part in his success as a pitcher. He then proceeded to pay Street a nice compliment.

"I never expect to pitch to a better catcher than 'Gabby' Street," said Johnson. "He certainly was a wonder. I never gave a thought as to a wild pitch with him doing the catching. I always felt that he would get the ball no matter where I threw it. And then there was the question of base runners. No matter how big a lead I gave the runners Street somehow always flung them at set up. He threw strikes to that base. I never was able to pitch too fast to suit him. I can smile now when I think of him. When I was putting every ounce of energy back of the ball he would be gabbling in that southern drawl of his: 'Come on, Walter, put something on the ball. Your arm must be sore.'"

With the passing of Street, Eddie Ainsmith became Johnson's battery partner. It is a rather peculiar fact that the catchers who have acted as Johnson's partners with the exception of Street, have combined their efforts almost entirely to handling Johnson.

It is also an interesting fact that other catchers rated as star performers never met with much success in catching Johnson's shoots. I have in mind John Henry and Eddie Garrity. Garrity was with Washington at the same time as Ainsmith. Henry caught practically every other pitcher. A number of times he essayed working with Johnson when Ainsmith was injured, but never did very well. I regard Eddie Garrity as one of the best catchers in baseball, yet Eddie doesn't have much success handling Walter. There really is no explanation. It just so happens.

Now that Picinich has passed out of the picture Walter will draw a new catcher. Muddy Ruel, acquired by Washington in the Boston deal, will probably be assigned to the job. Ruel likes speed, so he ought to be right at home with Johnson.

Lajoie Enjoys Unique Record

Larry Lajoie holds a unique batting record, something for the crack hitters to shoot at.

Larry finished with an average better than .400 that year. Other batters have walloped the ball for .400 or better averages, so there is nothing unusual in the high mark Lajoie made in 1901.

The unusual feature of Larry's batting during the 1901 season was that in making his mark of better than .400 he never once fell below that average during the entire campaign.

That is certainly a mark of consistent work at the bat. Larry was always that style batter. Slumps in hitting were a rarity with him.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 20.—"Wonder" Dr. W. E. Meanwell opened the season at Wisconsin this year with two veterans, Williams and Terrell, with which to build a team.

In the preliminary games, before the smoothness of the short pass style of play had begun to show up, the team lost two games. Marquette and Butler both managed to win by a small margin.

In the opening tilt of the Big Ten Conference at Northwestern, the men found their place and have not been defeated in the four conference games since, meeting Northwestern, Indiana, Chicago and Minnesota.

Michigan and Purdue loom up as the danger points on the Badgers' schedule, but the form that is now being shown should pull them through with at least one of the games to Wisconsin's credit in both series.

All told, since 1912 Coach Meanwell's team have won six championships. This year Meanwell has visions of capturing another "Big Ten" title.

McBride Weakest Hitter to Ever Win Major League Berth

Almost every ball club, especially in the big leagues, has at least one "set up" in its battle front.

That is a player who never casts much fear into the opposition when ever he steps to the plate because he can't hit either in a pinch or out of one.

In other words, fellows who do well to massage the agate around the .225 mark.

It is doubtful if there was ever a more lamentably weak hitter to grace a big league week than was George McBride, former manager of the Washington club, and for many years shortstop on the same team.

In the parlance of the game, George couldn't "hit the size of his hat," and hurtlers throughout the American League has a happy faculty of passing men, when in a pinch, just so as to get at McBride, and invariably the strategy worked to perfection.

"Mac" simply couldn't swing the old apple. He wasn't what might be termed a "whiffer," usually being able to make connections with the ball, but he couldn't drive 'em safe. He was merely tapping out or sending menly little taps to the infield. McBride was a consistent ".200."

AMENDMENTS OF HOUSE GO TO COMMITTEE

work in the daytime, while Mr. Murphy and Mrs. Sullivan worked day and night for this house.

Rep. Paul Johnson, Pembina, said he voted for the bill because "I believe this is the best money the state of North Dakota ever spent."

Rep. Orange, Stutsman, voted for the bill stating that men who had been in the house two years ago and in whom he had confidence, told him that the amounts charged were reasonable, the investigation had accomplished good, and the house had unanimously accepted the report two years ago.

Depository Act O. K'd.

The house also passed H. B. 194, a depository act regulating the deposit of public funds except as to the state of North Dakota, permitting deposit of funds in private banks or the Bank of North Dakota, and regulating the interest and requiring bonds to be obtained by officials before money is deposited in any bank. It is provided interest shall not be less than 2 per cent on call deposits and 4 per cent on time deposits. The vote was 59 to 53, with one absent.

On house bill No. 124, appropriating $12,065.15 to pay the Bismarck, Brissman company of St. Paul for the audit of state industries conducted over two years ago at the instance of the board of auditors, the vote was 63 to 49 for passage, with one absent.

House bill No. 238, amending the state hail insurance law to permit the commissioners of insurance to borrow money to pay part of losses before the hail tax is ascertained, passed 95 to 17, 1 absent.

Bills killed by the house during its session included the Watt bills, No. 247 and 248, which would have levied a "luxury tax" on theater tickets and on cigars and tobacco. The bill to reappropriate the legislative districts on the state was reported in an divided report, the report being accepted by a vote of 55 to 51.

The house adopted a senate resolution advocated by the Missouri Slope Irrigation Congress, calling upon the President and the United States and congress for the return for use in North Dakota of over $12,000,000 obtained from the sale of public lands and used for irrigation purposes in other states.

An effort made to reconsider the Rustad bill killed the day previous, providing workmen's compensation insurance may be carried either in the state fund or with private companies, failed, 49 to 29.

Mrs. Craig's Remarks.

Mrs. Minnie Craig, Benson county, one of the two women representatives in the lower house of the legislature, created a sensation when she arose in the house and declared that liquor had been brought into the state capital and that "I am not going to stand for it."

Prefacing her statement by saying she had heard much about patriotism and law observance, she declared that she had observed much law violation.

"I do not intend to endure a repetition of the last night's session of this house two years ago," she declared. "Liquor has been brought to this capital and has been consumed herein."

Closing her remarks she declared that "I have given you warning. I mean action."

NEW ENGLAND MAN DIES

Dickinson, N. D., Feb. 20.—Carl E. Talmadge, well known business man of New England and resident of the Slope country since 1913, died at his home in New England on Saturday night after a brief illness.

Complications resulting from an attack of influenza were the cause of Mr. Talmadge's death.

McBride was anything but a fast man on the sacks, seldom pilfering over 15 cushions a season. Nor was he a good "waiter." All of which probably accounts for the fact that McBride usually batted in eighth position in the Nationals' lineup.

But McBride, nevertheless, hung on to his job with bulldoglike tenacity because he was a good man. He could pick 'em up around short with the best of them. He had a stout whip and was fast at getting over territory. In addition to this he possessed a good baseball head, knew the game, and was a tireless worker.

And thus was George McBride kept on the Washington payroll for over a dozen years—simply because he could field. He was a veritable but-walk on defense.

COMPANY ASKS NEW FRANCHISE OF DICKINSON

Dickinson, N. D., Feb. 20.—The Hughes & Deiters Electric company has applied to the city commission for a renewal of its franchise in Dickinson for a period of 20 years.

The commission wishing to learn the attitude of the citizens in regard to the matter will not take definite action at present but will give all interested persons an opportunity to express their views before it is given final consideration under the regular order of business.

The franchise now held by the company was issued in 1901 to run for a period of 25 years, consequently three years remain before its expiration. It is the desire of the company, however, to undertake extensive building improvements during the coming year. A. H. Deiters, of the electric company, stated in an interview that in order to carry their plans into effect that it would be necessary to float a bond issue of at least $50,000. These bonds would run for 20 years and to dispose of them to advantage would necessitate the extension of the franchise over an equal or greater length of time.

Plans of the company for the present year include the construction of a high line east as far as Richardson to furnish current for light and power at Lehigh, Gladstone, Taylor and Richardson.

Mrs. W. R. Hall of Glen Ullin died at her home Monday morning at 2:20 o'clock after a protracted illness of diabetes, aged 61 years.

Deceased was a daughter of Frank Lehtleugner of Hebron and had a host of friends in the western part of the country who will be pained to learn of her death.

She leaves besides her husband, who is the publisher of the Glen Ullin News, one brother C. W. Lehtleugner of Hebron and two sisters Mrs. O. McGrath of Glen Ullin and Mrs. Dan Burkholder of Portland, Ore., also two step daughters, Thelma and Lucille Hall.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning from the Catholic church at Glen Ullin.

Pioneer Resident Dies in Miles City

Lars J. Erickson, one of the pioneer residents of Mandan, died Friday evening at the home of his daughter in Miles City, aged 67 years.

Mr. Erickson came to Mandan over 20 years ago. For seven or eight years he served the city as street commissioner and about a year ago his health failing he went west with his wife.

Last week Mr. Erickson and his wife arrived in Mandan during the blizzard. He was on his way to the Mayo hospital at Rochester for an operation. His condition was very critical and physicians advised that he probably would not survive until Rochester was reached. He lay ill at the Lewis & Clark hotel for several days and then took a train Thursday for Miles City. He died about an hour after reaching there.

Surviving are his wife and five daughters: Mrs. Hanson of Flasher, Mrs. Haug, Mrs. Bloom and Mrs. Larson of Miles City and Mrs. Henry Gardiner of Aberdeen, Wash.; two sons, Melvin of Miles City and Edward who is in Alaska.

ORIGINAL GARDEN IN N. D.

Mandan, N. D., Feb. 19.—The Garden of Eden wasn't in Asia, it was in North Dakota.

This is the word of the editor of the Shields Enterprise. He bases his assertion upon the alleged fact that when a lignite vein near Shields was opened the prints of bare feet were seen in the coal and a large fossil leg was found embedded in near by. The tracks extended all the way across the exposed part of the vein, 180 feet.

"Adam and Eve went south when ordered from the Garden," said the editor. The direction of the footprints prove that!

Advertised Goods Reach You Without Lost Motion

A BIG PART OF THE COST OF LIVING TODAY MAY BE CHARGED TO LOST MOTION, TO SLOW, SLIPSHOD DISTRIBUTION OF GOODS, AND TO OLD-STYLE, WASTEFUL SELLING METHODS.

For example, every year tons of fruits and vegetables rot on the ground, because it doesn't pay to pick them. Discouraged growers plant less the next season, and the supply of food is reduced. Meanwhile, consumers in the cities near by grumble over high prices. Demand and supply are not brought together.

Contrast this with the handling of oranges. $1,000,000 a year is spent for advertising by the co-operative association of the California Fruit Growers. A large sum; yet it is only about one-fifth of a cent per dozen—one-sixtieth of a cent for each orange sold.

And this advertising has kept down the cost of oranges. To quote an official of the Exchange:

"The cost of selling oranges and lemons through the California Fruit Growers' Exchange is lower today than it was ten years ago.

"In the twelve years since the first campaign was launched the consumption of California oranges has doubled. The American consumer has been taught by co-operative advertising to eat nearly twice as many oranges as before.

"Had the orange industry remained on the old basis, there would have been no profit in growing oranges. New acreage would not have been planted. Orchards would most surely have been uprooted and other crops planted."

Advertising, properly done, saves money for the consumer and makes money for the producer by driving out wasteful methods, increasing volume and cutting down the costs of selling and distribution.

N. D. ENGINEERS HOLD ANNUAL CONVENTION

Meet in Joint Session in Mandan and Bismarck Today and Tomorrow

The North Dakota Society of Engineers and the North Dakota chapter of the American Association of Engineers are holding their annual conventions in joint session at Mandan and Bismarck today and tomorrow.

The session today was held at the Commercial club rooms at Mandan, and tomorrow's session will be held at the Association of Commerce rooms in the First Guaranty bank. The two societies comprise at least eighty per cent of the engineers of the state. The meetings are open to anyone who wishes to attend and a program of interest to all has been arranged. The convention will close with a banquet at the McKenzie hotel on Wednesday evening at which the wives and lady friends of the engineers will be entertained.

Friends of the engineers who have been attending their regular monthly programs have also been invited to the banquet. Following the banquet a dance will be given in Patterson's hall at which all visiting engineers will be the guests of the local Bismarck club. On Wednesday morning a moving picture show will be given at the Capitol theater at which several reels of pictures of interesting engineering projects and feats will be shown as well as a 5-reel comedy. The annual election of officers of both societies took place at Mandan this morning which was followed by the regular annual business meeting.

The North Dakota society is a technical society of engineers, while the American Association of Engineers is non-technical and is devoted to the social and economic welfare of engineers.

WALSH COUNTY BOY WINNER

Takes First Place in State-Wide Essay Contest

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 20.—Charles Abercrombie, 16-year-old farm resident near Ardach, Walsh county, won first place in the boys' and girls' state-wide dairy essay contest conducted under the auspices of the North Dakota Dairymen's association, according to an announcement made today by the committee of judges consisting of H. E. Rilling and J. R. Dice of the North Dakota Agricultural college and Wm. Page, assistant state dairy commissioner. Others who placed for premium money are Margaret Schieb, Bordulac, second; Willie Puntun, Ayr, third; Norman Ellingson, Valley City, fourth; Charles Boise, La-Moure, seventh; and Dennis Schulze, Casselton, eighth. More than 50 essays were entered in the contest, and cash premiums ranging from $15 for first to $1 for eighth place were awarded. In addition, Abercrombie was awarded a special prize of a purebred Jersey bull calf offered by Sam Crabbe of Fargo.

Of the eight winners in the contest, at least four are boys' and girls' club members, according to Mr. Rilling, and have already engaged in raising stock and garden and field crops. They are Charles Abercrombie, Willie Puntun, Sidney Puntun and Delia Gransberg. Miss Gransberg is president of the state boys' and girls' club institute and has been in the club for four years. The prize-winning essay by Charles Abercrombie, was entitled "Care and Management of Dairy Calves."

Taxpayer Unit Favors Bills To Cut Levies

Minot, N. D., Feb. 19.—At a meeting here of the board of directors of the Ward county unit of the North Dakota Taxpayers' association it was decided to make an immediate effort to fully organize Ward county and enroll at least 1,000 members in the association. It is the plan to maintain the association until taxes of North Dakota have reached a normal level again.

"The unit adopted the following resolution: 'That this unit firmly and unequivocally favors reduction of taxes and a program of economy in North Dakota.'

"That in working toward a general reduction in the tax burden, the state legislature and all local taxing bodies follow a course of rigid economy. 'That it is the sense of the meeting that no action by the state legislature or action by a local tax levying body shall be taken that will

EVIDENCE AGAINST DR. JACOBS IS KEPT SECRET

San Diego, Feb. 20.—Although there was no word today as to the character of the evidence to be produced against Dr. Louis Jacobs, Camp Kearney hospital physician, charged with the murder of Fritz Mann, dancer, it was admitted that the prosecutor and several assistants were busy marshalling facts which they intend to bring before the jury.

FARM WEEK IS OBSERVED

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 20.—Farm Diversification week, Feb. 19 to 24, established by special proclamation of Gov. R. A. Nestos is being observed with special farm meetings in almost every county of the state. The entire force of the extension division of the North Dakota Agricultural college is out this week, assisting the various county agents with a series of meetings and the farm institute force of the state department of agriculture is also putting on special meetings.

The North Dakota Wheat Growers association launched a big membership campaign for the week. George E. Duis, Grand Forks, president of this association, hopes to see the present membership of 7,000 doubled during the week, he said.

LAKE REGION PIONEER DIES

Devils Lake, N. D., Feb. 20.—Charles C. Connolly, 64, Ramsey county pioneer, who came to the lake region in 1883, died at his home here.

For many years he has been identified with civic and state life. He was connected for the last eight years with the state immigration department and founded the North Dakota State Picnic Association of the Modern Woodmen of America, and for years has been treasurer of that organization.

In April, 1882, he accepted a position in the engineering department of the Northern Pacific railroad, and while surveying for the Jamestown and Northern railroad in 1882, he selected claims on the west shore of Devils Lake. On Feb. 14, 1885, Mr. Connolly staged it from Jamestown to Fort Totten. On March 17 of that year he and three others staked their claims, having been the first white settlers on the west

Appropriations Would Eat up State Highway Funds

With house bill No. 233, providing for abolition of the highway commission and discontinuance of federal aid killed, the highways committee of the house reported for passage several bridge bills which have been pending for several weeks. The committee is controlled by opponents of the state highways building.

The total amount of state aid proposed for the bridges would, it was stated by Rep. Twichell, about

HAIR STAYS COMBED, GLOSSY

"Hair-Groom" Keeps Hair Combed—Well-Groomed

Millions Use It—Fine for Hair

—Not Sticky, Greasy or Smelly
Get a jar of "Hair-Groom" from any druggist for a few cents and make even stubborn, unruly or shampooed hair stay combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is a dignified cream which gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to your hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions.

Greaseless, stainless "Hair-Groom" does not show on the hair because it is absorbed by the scalp, therefore your hair remains so soft and pliable and so natural that no one can possibly tell you used it.

use up the fund from which bridge aid is drawn—the states portion of the motor vehicle license fund. The bills recommended for passage which reports the house accepted, included:
H. B. 40 appropriating $100,000 to aid in building a federal aid bridge across the Red River at Fargo; $86,500 to aid in building a bridge across the Missouri between Williams and McKenzie counties; $35,000 to aid in building a bridge across Des Laes Lake on or near the Burke-Ward county line, and $3,500 to retire bonds issued on a bridge built over the Red River in Walsh county.

SESSION OF COURT OPENS

Judge Jansson Holds Special Term in City

The special term of district court called here by Judge Jansson was in session today, the jury venire reporting.

The first cases to be taken up will be criminal matters from other counties. States Attorney Allen expected to move the trial of Kasimir Schneider, charged with murder, for trial beginning about Feb. 26th.

The criminal calendar probably will not be long, a number of cases having been dismissed because it was contended by attorneys for the defense that since they had not been given a trial at the last term of court—when the grand jury was called and dismissed—new information would have to be made out for their arrest. This was waived by attorneys for Schneider.

Many civil cases are on the calendar.

Warrants were served by the sheriff's office on the proprietors of the Grand Pacific Hotel and the Sweet Shop for alleged violation of the eight hour law for women workers. First arrests for alleged violations were made several days ago, and included four hotel or cafe owners.

CAMPAIGN OF GROWERS OPENS

Membership Drive Made By N. D. Association

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 20.—An intensive membership campaign by the North Dakota Wheat Growers association starts today and will continue for one week, during which time it is expected that the membership will be doubled; according to officials.

Recognizing that in unity is strength and that in volume of business lies the greatest power of commodity marketing associations, a nation-wide drive for new members was launched, and a week set aside for this purpose. Governor Nestos, as well as governors from other states, issued proclamations urging support to the plan of the Wheat Growers, and pointing out the need of cooperative marketing if agriculture is again to be placed on a sound financial basis.

The campaign will be essentially a concerted effort on the part of members to interest and enroll their neighbors into the organization, for those within the association realize that success of commodity marketing is dependent on gaining the control of the bulk of the commodity handled, it was pointed out by officials. Competition between growers must cease and the sale centralized, if the greatest good is to result.

National Wheat Growers' Week

February 19 to 24

Proclamation issued by Governor Nestos.

BOOTLEGGING VS. MERCHANDISING

Big Bend Blue Stem, a soft milling wheat, is the highest priced wheat in the world!

WHY?

The sale of it is controlled by Wheat Growers on the Pacific coast, and certain millers demand that kind of wheat!

DAKOTA DURUM

Mr. Farmer, you are penalized for raising Durum, that beautiful amber colored wheat that makes delicious, cream colored macaroni, spaghetti, noodles, and hundreds of other delectable dishes! Do you know that practically the entire production of Durum wheat comes from North Dakota, and other states can't raise it successfully! Do you realize what will happen when the NORTH DAKOTA WHEAT GROWERS ASSOCIATION gets complete control of the sale of Durum wheat? Think it over!

HARD SPRING WHEAT

Practically all the HARD SPRING WHEAT in this country is raised in the NORTHWEST. Millers must have this wheat to make good flour. Are you getting a fair price for it? The only way to get a just price for this super-wheat is to quit bootlegging it in competition with your neighbor and organize for the control of the marketing. That is what the NORTH DAKOTA WHEAT GROWERS ASSOCIATION is doing!
